THE FIGURES on the Printed Address indicate the time to which you have paid. For instance: 26Ap61, means paid to the 26th of April, 1861. Subscribers will please examine these Labels, as by doing so they will be always posted, and, if they wish to, can renew before the time to which they have paid expires, or detect any error we may make in giving credit, and have the same rectified at once.

☞ We [illegible] subscriptions when the time paid for is out—and no paper is sent unless the money accompanies the order.

JERMAIN & BRIGHTMAN.

To the Public.

THE SENTINEL, having double the circulation IN THE CITY, and more than treble OUT OF IT, of any other paper here, renders it far the cheapest and most desirable medium in Milwaukee for all classes of Advertisements.

EVERY BUSINESS MAN who consults his own interest, will avail himself of the columns of THE DAILY SENTINEL,—especially when he can do so at the same prices charged by other papers, and secure more than double the advantage of circulation.

This is no boast, but EVERY WORD TRUE.

News Digest.

We have foreign news of the 25th ult., by the "Prince Albert." The latest advices from Italy state that GARIBALDI had entered Palermo, and assumed the Dictatorship. The success of the revolutionists had caused a great panic at Messina. There is no other political news of special importance. Breadstuffs are reported dull.

Kansas is not to be admitted as a State, the present session, the Democratic Senators having agreed in caucus, to vote for an amendment changing the boundaries, and referring the question back to the people.

The authorities and citizens of Philadelphia are making extensive arrangements for the reception of the Japanese Embassy tomorrow.

The Senate yesterday passed the House resolution providing for a final adjournment on the 18th of June inst.

Garibaldi in Sicily.

The news by the "Prince Albert," which arrived at St. Johns on the 6th instant, tho' not entirely decisive, renders it highly probable that the revolution in Sicily has been successful and that GARIBALDI has triumphed. If this be so, we shall soon hear of a general rising in Italy, where the yoke of foreign domination presses sorely upon the people. It is thought that Sardinia, though ostensibly condemning the movement, is at heart in favor of it, and would gladly see King Bomba sent adrift. The next arrival must bring us definite intelligence as to the fate of Sicily.

Kansas in the Senate.

The U. S. Senate on Tuesday, by a vote of 33 to 27, postponed the bill for the admission of Kansas into the Union. This is virtually a vote to exclude Kansas until after the Presidential election. The thirty-three ayes were all Democrats, of course; of the nays, 25 were Republicans and two, only, (PUGH and LATHAM) Democrats. Mr. DOUGLAS was absent; paired off, it is said, with Mr. CLAY, of Alabama. We ask the people of the North-West, and all Democrats who really believe in "Popular Sovereignty," to mark, read and inwardly digest this vote. It shows what a perfect sham modern Democracy is.

A BAD OMEN.—Somebody presented the President of the Chicago Convention a gavel made from the timber of the United States ship Chesapeake, whereupon the Richmond Dispatch remarks as follows:

"Of all the ships in the American navy the Chesapeake was the most unlucky; from the beginning of the war to the end she brought nothing but blushes to the cheeks of the nation; she was one of the only two American frigates that the British captured in fair fight; if, indeed, a fight could be considered fair in which the crew of the American vessel was composed of raw hands, while that of the English of the picked men of the navy."—La Crosse Union & Democrat.

A great mistake, neighbor. The "gavel" in question was made from the sound oak of of Commodore PERRY's famous flag-ship, the Lawrence, so named after the hero who stained the decks of the Chesapeake with his blood and with his dying breath exclaimed, "Don't give up the ship!" That is the spirit with which the Republicans commence the fight, and they will close it with the laconic dispatch of the gallant PERRY, "We have met the enemy and they are ours!"

NORTHWESTERN MAILS—NEW ARRANGEMENTS.—The Postoffice Department have ordered a new arrangement for the distribution of the great Northwestern mails for the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, by which these mails will be distributed on board the Detroit and Milwaukee steamers while crossing Lake Michigan, thus saving twelve hours in their transportation, they formerly having been detained that length of time in the Postoffice in this city for distribution.—By the new arrangement, the whole matter will be under the care of the Postoffice in this city as heretofore, five clerks from which have been detailed for this especial duty. These are Messrs. Isaac G. Worden, Edward M. Bade, C. N. Ockford, John J. B. Campau, and Matthew Moynihan. The new arrangement is under the special supervision of Mr. Isaac G. Worden. The boats leave Grand Haven, going west, on the morning boat.—Detroit Free Press, June 6.

This new arrangement works like a charm and is a great accommodation to the People and Press of the North-West. The steamships Detroit and Milwaukee make their daily trips with the regularity of clock-work, and never fail to connect with the Railroads at either end of the Lake route.—The mails are all distributed and ready to be despatched West and North-West the moment the boats touch their dock. We receive daily, by this new and direct route, our New York exchanges, through in about forty-two hours. That will do, even for a "fast" age and a "go-ahead" people.

"LET BY-GONES BE BY-GONES."—An old friend and subscriber in the Northern part of the State, sends in a communication sharply reviewing the course of the N. Y. Tribune previous to, and of its principal Editor at the Chicago Convention; and is anxious to have us publish it. We should be glad to oblige our correspondent; but the discussion of this subject, we think, has already gone far enough, and there is nothing to be gained by protracting it. The time has come for all good Republicans, forgetting private griefs and personal differences, to unite, heart and hand, in a vigorous and determined effort to rescue the General Government from the hands of the Philistines. Let us be true to THE CAUSE, and with LINCOLN and HAMLIN for our candidates, there is no such word as fail.

COMPLIMENT TO CARL SCHURZ.—The magnificent speech, delivered by our fellow-citizen, CARL SCHURZ, at the Republican Ratification meeting in this city, is highly commended everywhere. The New York Tribune says:

"This is the season of eloquence; but of all the ten thousand political speeches which it has lately been our duty to read, that of Carl Schurz, of Wisconsin, made at Milwaukee last Wednesday, is perhaps the most eloquent and inspiring. We regret that we have not room to copy it."

And the Albany Evening Journal adds:

"Carl Schurz has recently made a speech at Milwaukee, which is pronounced by those who heard and those who read it, to be the very masterpiece of eloquence."

A MEETING of the Executive Committee of the Walworth County Musical Association was held at Delavan last week, to make arrangements for their Annual Convention. The regular time for holding the Convention is in June, but the committee have thought it advisable to defer it until the 10th of July.

The Indictment against Douglas.

Senator BENJAMIN, of Louisiana, in the course of his recent able speech adverse to the nomination and denunciatory of the principles of Mr. DOUGLAS, sets forth, very clearly and succinctly, the reasons which now impel the South to disturb and oppose the Illinois Senator. The following is the substance of the bill of complaint:

"We accuse him of this, to wit: That having bargained with us upon a point upon which we were at issue, that it should be considered a judicial point; that he would abide the decision; that he would act under the decision, and consider it a doctrine of the party; that having said that here in the Senate, he went home, and under the stress of a local election, his knees gave way, his whole person trembled. His adversary stood upon principle and was beaten; and lo! he is the candidate of a mighty party for the Presidency of the United States. The Senator from Illinois faltered. He got the prize for which he faltered; but lo! the grand prize of his ambition to-day slips from his grasp because of his faltering in his former contest, and his success for the canvass in the Senate, purchased for an ignoble price, has cost him the loss of the Presidency of the United States.

Here were two men, struggling before the people of a State on two great sides of a political controversy that was dividing the Union, each for empire at home. One stood on principle—was defeated. To-day where stands he? The other faltered—received the prize; but, to day, where stands he?—Not at the head of the Democratic party of these United States. He is a fallen star. We have separated from him. He is right in saying that we have separated from him. We have separated from him, not because we are intolerant of opposition from anybody, for the Senator from Ohio (Mr. Pugh) is an honored member of our organization. We separated from him because he has denied the bargain that he made when he went home; because, after telling us here in the Senate that he was willing that this whole matter should be decided by the Supreme Court, in the face of his people he told them that he had got us by the bill, and that, whether the decision was for or against us, the practical effect was to be against us; and because he shows us how again that he is ready to make use of Republican arguments used against himself at home, and to put them forth against the Democratic party in speeches here in the Senate."

CELEBRATION OF PERRY'S VICTORY AND MONUMENT.—The completion of the monument and its inauguration is to be celebrated in Cleveland on the 10th of September. Invitations have been sent to the Grand Lodge of Masons of Ohio and three hundred and and twenty subordinate lodges, the military companies of the State, and those of Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo; the First Light Infantry of Providence, Rhode Island; the Mayors and prominent officers of the Lake and State cities, and the survivors of the Battle of Lake Erie, to attend the above celebration fixed for the 10th of September next. Many have signified their acceptance of said invitations. Among the celebrities who we are assured will be present, will the orator of the day, the Hon. GEORGE BANCROFT, the American Historian.

GREAT RISE IN BLACK RIVER—BOOMS CARRIED AWAY.—We learn from the La Crosse Union & Democrat of Wednesday last, that the Black River, at the Falls, has risen 18 feet and is sweeping everything downwards. The Democrat says:

"Price's boom at the Falls gave way Saturday night. Douglas' boom 14 miles below, and the boom at Lyttle's at the Hammond chute broke out the night following. Lyttle's boom had been closed last night, so all logs are secure. Wedge's creek, and all the logging streams above are at a high pitch.—The ferries on Black River could hardly work for two days past, from the immense run of logs. All will be cleared in the river."

WE REGRET to state that the Bank of Fond du Lac, last Monday, was obliged to suspend specie payment. The cause that produced this unfortunate result, we are informed, was the dissatisfaction of some of its stockholders, and a threatened injunction. Most of the depositors have already been paid off, and we learn that the assetts will be ample to meet all the remaining liabilities. It is not likely that depositors or bill holders will be obliged to lose by this—we trust—temporary suspension.

THE SPEED OF A TORNADO.—Speaking of the fearful tornado which swept through the valley of the Ohio on the 21st inst., the Cincinnati Enquirer says, the velocity with which this tornado traveled may be estimated from the fact that it was only about two hours in going from Louisville to Portsmouth, a distance by an air line of 160 miles. As it followed the windings of the river, however, its velocity could not have been less than one hundred miles an hour.

"A BIG MUSS,"—says the La Crosse Union & Democrat, came off at Winona on the 5th, between some of the Officers of the La Crosse and a wheat agent, Mr. SIMPSON. The fight grew out of some difficulty as to freight. The mate, or captain of the boat pitched into SIMPSON roughly, when citizens interfered, and the melee became quite general, till stopped by the police officers. The Captain of the La Crosse was fined $50.

TWO MEN were arrested in Beaver Dam, on Tuesday last, for an assault on a Catholic priest of that place. Their names were KILMEYER and AULTMAN. It seems that they took offence at his reverence for some reason, and threw him down, stripped his coat off, and beat him severely. They were fined $15 each.

THE PIKE'S PEEK EMIGRATION.—The Omaha Republican gives the following resume of the emigration to Pike's Peak passing that point this season:

"Total for week ending May 27, 1860, 244 wagons and 781 men.

"Total for 7 weeks, ending May 27, 1,768 wagons and 5,378 men."

LOOKING OUT FOR THE ENGINE.—HORATIO SEYMOUR, of New York, has written a letter refusing to have his name presented to the Baltimore Convention for the nomination of President or Vice-President. He undoubtedly sees "ABRAHAM coming afar off."

FIRE.—The ancient town of Menominee, in Wisconsin, opposite Dubuque, says the Times, was destroyed by fire, Thursday afternoon. The fire is supposed to have been the result of an accident.

DESPERATE SHOOTING AFFRAY.—Yesterday afternoon Detective Welch arrested a Norwegian named Johnson, living in the town of Windsor, charged with firing on a son of Aaron Pinney, from a double-barreled pistol. It is stated that Mr Pinney went into Johnson's yard for some of his cattle, when Johnson came out and discharged one of the barrels at him, the ball going through the middle of Pinney's hat, a little above his head. He afterwards fired the other barrel at the cattle. He was brought before Justice Braley this morning, and gave bail in $1,000 to appear on next Monday morning. He is over 50 years of age, and the father of a family.—Madison Patriot.

THE LOUISVILLE Journal says: "It is estimated by those whose position in the trade gives them ample opportunities of aiming at a close approximation, that at least 700,000 bushels of coal have been lost during the recent storms between this port and Pittsburg. In after ages when some convulsion of nature changes the bed of the Ohio river, there will be a very respectable coal seam all along its course as the result of these heavy losses."

AT NEW BERLIN, Waukesha Co., on Monday last, a child of PETER LOWER, aged about one year, was killed in the arms of its nurse by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of a brother nine years old.

A BOY—CHARLES BYERS, while carrying locusts in his hat, in Wetzel County, Virginia, recently, was stung on the head and died from the effects of the injury.

The Derby.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Herald.

LONDON, May 23.

The Derby stakes for which horses are entered consists of money which is raised by subscribers, each person entering a colt having to pay fifty sovereigns—$250. The present year there were 224 subscribers; the value of the stakes this year was £6,425.

The horses who run for the Derby will be three years old at the time of the race, or one year from the time of their being entered.—The owner of the second horse receives 100 sovereigns out of the stakes. The winner pays 100 sovereigns towards the police and regulations of the course, and 50 sovereigns to the judge. The course is one mile and a half. During the course of a year a great many horses are withdrawn, their owners perceiving they do not possess qualities which will enable them to win the race. The present year the number decreased to 30.

The Americans in London, and, in fact, many of the best English judges of the turf, placed the fullest confidence in Umpire, and believed, judging from his performances last fall, he was safe to win the Derby. I visited him at Newmarket, and there saw Brown, his trainer, who told me he possessed greater strength than any horse on the heath. So every Monday at Tattersall's, in the betting room, Umpire stood firm and advanced gradually till he became favorite, until Wizard won the 2,000 guinea stakes at Newmarket; even then he held his own, and on the morning of the race he was 9 to 2, while Wizard was 5 to 2; Thormanby, 11 to 2; Horror 20 to 1. Thus the betting stood. The Field supported Umpire as the winner; so did the Era; while the last telegraph to the Racing Times stated: "Umpire will win the Derby." The day previous to the race I visited Epsom, and there saw Thormanby, Wizard, Umpire and Horror take their gallops, and most certainly never did a horse look better than Umpire, and my confidence in him was greater than ever. He looked as if he would carry off the Derby stakes with as much ease as he did the Goodwood cup last year. In the second gallop he was accompanied by Cock-a-hoop and Pomona—two of Mr. Ten Broeck's favorite horses. He passed them like a shot.

By 3 o'clock there must have been nearly 250,000 people, and at least 20,000 vehicles of various descriptions on the ground. Nearly all the nobility of England were there, and so were all the pickpockets. There is a hurry and movement; the horses are saddling. There are the riders, bearing the distinctive colors of their masters. There is Wells, one of the best riders in England; he mounts Largesse, a fine filly, belonging to Sir Joseph Hawley, and wears the cherry colored jacket and black velvet cap, which designate him in the race. Then comes an ugly colt called Horror, sired by Wild Dayrell. Snowden rides him, and may be distinguished by his black jacket, white belt, and black and white cap. But here comes a colt, equally as ugly, bony and strong, with fine broad shoulders, and his coat as polished as silk; he is ridden by Fordham, the finest jockey in England; that boy has won many a race; he is dressed in orange silk, with a black belt and orange-colored cap. Those are the colors of Ten Broeck, and the horse he rides is Umpire, on whom the Americans look with so much anxiety.

Now for Thormanby, sired by Melbourne; he is as lively as a deer. Custance rides him, and wears yellow and a black cap, the livery of Mr. Merry. "Here comes the favorite, as pretty a piece of horseflesh as ever the eye lighted on. When he strips, his friends raise a shout of delight. He looks like a Derby winner, though he looks hardly strong enough to raise that fearful hill of the Epsom course; but we shall see. Wizard was sired by West Australian, one of the noblest horses England ever raised. French rides him, and is dressed in blue, with scarlet sleeves and blue cap. Then there are various others; Earl Derby's colors are black, with white cap; Lord Palmerston's green, with orange cap; Baron Rothschild's, dark blue and yellow cap. Lord Derby entered Cape Flyaway, Lord Palmerston Mainstone, and Baron Rothschild Restes. Others had jackets of green, white, pink, cherry, chocolate and brown. Everything seems ready—every heart throbs with anxiety—there are thousands who in a few minutes will be left almost beggared, while others will add thousands and thousands to their fortunes. On Umpire is staked the most. Mr. Tattersall informed me he believed the amount of money that would change hands on Umpire would reach nearly a million pounds.

The bell rings—they are off! What a rush! What a mob of horses! What a bustle! Only a mile and a half. "Where is the green?" shouts one. "Where is the blue?" shouts another. But the Americans are all eagerly looking for the colors of Umpire.—"Where is the orange jacket?—where is Fordham, with his black belt and orange cap? There is a cloud of dust in front—all is obscured—the millions are hanging in the balance—the anxiety still lasts. Bets are made wildly, curses are uttered loudly, and then there is a shout, and that shout carries dismay to the hearts of the Americans, for Umpire is nowhere. "It is impossible!" say all of us; "there is some trickery."—But the train is waiting to take us to Southampton, and we have not a moment to lose. Thormanby is the winner, Wizard is the 2d, and Horror, who was thought nothing of, is third; while Umpire was, I think, eleventh. The judgment of every one was at fault—all the predictions and calculations made were erroneous.

Mr. Ten Broeck, during the race, wore a face as calm as summer, and when the announcement was made his coolness was the same. He lost no money, but gained nearly $60,000. Of course there will be many inquiries made as to the causes of the defeat of Umpire, and that so badly. The loss to Americans is very severe. So much confidence was placed in his abilities by Englishmen that they were sure of winning. We shall perhaps soon know the cause.

TRINITY SUNDAY AT NASHOTAH.—The usual Trinity ordinations occurred at Nashotah on the 3d inst. The previous day and night were overcast with clouds, from which fell frequent showers of rain, but Sunday came clear and bright, and continued so until toward evening. The occasion was one of deep interest and importance. A number of distinguished visitors arrived during the previous week, among whom were Rev. Dr. Bolles, of Boston, and Rev. Dr. Hooker, of Philadelphia. A deputation of the church friends from Janesville encamped in a fine tent, with all the necessaries for a comfortable and pleasant stay. Early in the day delegates from Watertown, Waukesha, Oconomowoc and other adjacent places came in one after another, and long before the exercises began, the grounds were covered with visitors from the surrounding country, anxious to witness or take part in the ceremonies. At ten o'clock a procession composed of the students, clergy and bishop of the diocese, formed at Bishop White Hall, and marched to the new chapel, which was temporarily fitted up for the purpose. It was soon filled to overflowing. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Bolles. It was an able and masterly production, showing the distinctive characteristics of the social fabric, to be brought about by ministerial agencies.—His text was from Isaiah, c. 24, v. 2. "As with the people so with the priest." After the sermon, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Kemper, of Wisconsin, proceeded with the ordination service. Messrs. A. M. Lewis, of Western New York, A. S Nicholson and J. H. Thompson, of Wisconsin, were ordained Deacons. The Rev. T. M Reiley, of the diocese of New Jersey, was admitted to the order of priesthood. A liberal collection, amounting to between four and five hundred dollars, was taken up, to be appropriated to the finisning of the new chapel. Altogether, the day was one of marked and unusual interest to the friends of the Episcopal Church, and we hope these ceremonies will be continued and repeated for many and many years to come. The college at Nashotah, even in this day of its infancy, is doing a noble work, and when its high aims shall be fully realized, there will be no measuring the good it may accomplish through the ages of the future.—Wat. Dem.

AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY, of which further particulars will, no doubt, shortly be given to the scientific world, was recently made in Egypt, in the neighborhood of the great Pyramid, by the celebrated Archæologist, M. Augusta Marriette. It would appear that in the course of his explorations he had lighted on the Palace of Cephren, the King of Egypt, who is supposed to have been the constructor of the Great Pyramid, and who lived about 3,600 years before Christ. The immense edifice is built of solid granite, and several magnificent collosal statutes of King Pharoah Cephren have already been discovered on it, which leads to the belief that further investigations will bring forth still more curious and interesting remains.

A WEALTHY YOUNG LADY, from the North, came to Petersburgh, Va., about four weeks ago enciente, and after vainly attempting to hide her shame, entered the poor house, where she gave birth to a black child. She died in the institution where her child was born, on Monday.

Departure of Steamers.

FOR CHICAGO.

The steamer Gazelle will leave Olmsted's dock every evening at 7 o'clock for the above and intermediate ports.

FOR TWO RIVERS.

The steamer Cleveland leaves Olmsted's dock, every evening at 8 o'clock, for Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Two Rivers.

FOR BUFFALO.

Screw steamers, with good accommodations, leave the different transportation docks every day, for Buffalo.

FOR OSWEGO AND OGDENSBURGH.

One of the Northern Transportation Co's screw steamers sails for the above ports every day, from the the Company's dock at the M. & Miss. R. R. depot, touching at nearly all intermediate ports.

FOR COLLINGWOOD.

The Collingwood Line of screw steamers leave semi-weekly from Dousman's dock, foot of East Water Street, connecting at Collingwood with the Northern Railway of Canada, for the East.

FOR GREEN BAY.

The screw steamer Wabash Valley makes weekly trips to the above port, starting from Olmsted's dock.

WE ARE VERY GLAD to hear that we are to have a grand regatta, and a grand balloon ascension, and a grand procession on the Fourth—the Wisconsin has said so, but nobody knows anything further about it. Certainly everybody wants a celebration, and the only reason why a proposition to celebrate is not made is simply through fear of everybody's speaking at once. It is not only seemly, but necessary that we should take the cork out of our patriotism once in a year. True, all the flags have been dedicated to LINCOLN and HAMLIN, and the powder is waiting to hear from Baltimore, but there are dinners that can be eaten, (provided editors are asked,) speeches that are quivering to be delivered; brass bands and firemen that are ready to play; gallant militia who will undergo bearskin caps; and people who will suffer the Declaration of Independence and an oration as of old. The Milwaukee heart is as full of Fourth of July-ism as ever it was; its auricles and ventricles are full of it, and fire-works won't relieve it. Therefore let us arise in our might and do something desperate. We call upon that committee! Where are you! Echo answers—"CALEB WALL!" Shall we celebrate at home or shall we all go off to see the Great Eastern!

MARIE MIGNONETTE appears in the La Crosse Union as partner in the editorial distress. She flourishes a ready pen and makes a readable column.—Sent nel.

"Editorial distress?" Well, that is cool, especially as the members of the firm are all in good condition! Take back your charge!—La Crosse Union.

We cheerfully take it back, seeing that the editors of the Union and Democrat are exceptions to the universal rule. Editing is always a distress. To churn one's brains daily for the cream which the public maw demands, is not the heighth of serene felicity. To be an editor is to be a mill horse—we make an exception in favor of the fair partner, however. Sanctums are generally black holes—dusky workshops were bright weapons are forged, and gems re-set; but the workmen are toilsome, drudging slaves, and we can appreciate the charm of a lady presence, especially when the lady is as sprightly and fresh as our new friend of the "border column." We only wish fate would stick a blooming mignonette in our professional button hole.

THE FIRST CARGO OF COAL.—C. Dudley, of the North-western Coal Yard, received on Tuesday the first cargo of coal by lake this season. It came by the schooner ——, and consisted of the choicest varieties of Lehigh and Blossburgh.—Wisconsin of last evening.

Our neighbor is not very well posted in regard to marine matters. The first sailing vessel that came through the Straits this season—the schooner Tracy J. Bronson—landed a cargo of coal at the yard of ANTHONY GREEN, from Cleveland; and every week since the opening of navigation several cargoes of coal have arrived. Furthermore, no vessel of the name mentioned by our neighbor appears on the Custom House books, and we very much suspect that somebody has been repeating the frequent practice of "selling" the credulous young man of the family journal.

A MILWAUKEE ESTABLISHMENT.—The La Crosse Union & Democrat has the following notice of the large and handsome store of the Messrs BRADFORD in this city:

One of the most extensive and prominent business firms in Milwaukee is that of the Messrs. Bradford Brothers, whose advertisement will be found elsewhere. In their store a few days since, we were informed by one of the members of the firm, that their trade so far this season had more than doubled over that of last season, and that the increase was mostly from the North-western part of this State, Iowa and Minnesota. One thing is certain, they have a tip top business reputation; have struck the right track to secure a heavy trade from this vicinity, and besides have a splendid stock of goods for merchants to select from. Their carpet rooms are the most extensive of any house in the West, far surpassing any carpet establishment in Chicago, to say nothing of their store full of other goods. We like to see such men succed, as we like to see any one who makes the effort.

MR. WILSON gave our theatre an incidental poke—it turned over, and folks thought for a moment that it would revive, but it only grunted, gave a galvanic kick and died.—Will our friend CLODY write an elegy, and introduce something about the blindness of the Milwaukee merchants, who declined to purchase tickets enough "to run" the muse!

WE MANAGED to stop looking for the Great Eastern long enough, recently, to take a hunt after the Saturday Gazette, but our search in one case resulted no better than in the other. We are assured, however, that the Great Eastern will surely come. Will the Literary Gazette ever come any more. Has CLINTON used up all his brains or has his funds give out—which?

TICKETS FOR THE BALTIMORE CONVENTION.—Tickets will be furnished (to those wishing to attend the Baltimore Convention on the 18th) by the Detroit & Milwaukee Railway at the low sum of $19,50. This is $3,50 less than by any other route. je7d2t

ST. CHARLES HOTEL—Captain UPMAN is getting his Hotel (formerly known as the Hotel Wellstein) in excellent order. The table is well supplied, and the cuisine unexceptionable. The Hotel will be formally opened next Tuesday, with a Social Party.

AT HALF MAST.—Nearly all the vessels in our harbor yesterday had their flags at half mast, as a token of respect to the late wife of Capt. KYNASTON, of the schooner W. J. Whaling, who died yesterday morning.

MUNICIPAL COURT, June 7.—M. L. Grovenger, assault and battery, continued till this A. M.

H. H. Smith, keeping disorderly house; case dismissed.

PERSONAL.—Charlie Brause, so long a resident of Manitowoc, is about changing his residence, having accepted a situation in Milwaukee. He has many friends here and will make more where he is going.—Man. Trib.

Small Potatoes, Eh?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL:—The News of yesterday contains an allusion to the flag that floats at the mast-head of my little craft. The allusion is not complimentary; but I couldn't expect anything else of the News; it alludes to the potatoes being small. Mr. SENTINEL, I wish to state that the cause of the News' nasty fling at my potatoes was owing entirely to my not sending him a small measure. They were LINCOLN and HAMLIN potatoes, and he wanted to roast them. Let met say that until LINCOLN and HAMLIN are elected, I shall carry their names at my mast-head, and small potatoe editors will find that even so obscure an individual as myself is "sound on the goose" every time.

A SAILOR,

Under the Lincoln and Hamlin Flag.

CHARLEY WILSON'S LETTER.—C. H. WILSON publishes a letter in the News, which the Wisconsin copies and mutilates. We reprint it, capitalizing that portion which the Wisconsin suppressed:

TO THE THEATRICAL PUBLIC.—As has been noticed in the different papers of the city, I intended to open the "Academy of Music" in connection with Mr. Riley, this evening. I perfected all my arrangements, and meant to fulfill them. Mr. Riley had written to me that he could get the best of De Bar's company from St. Louis, and we wished to demonstrate the fact whether Milwaukee would support genuine talent or not. I tried to obtain the assistance of the merchants to enable us to meet our expenses weekly, but they would do nothing to aid the enterprise. Still, I thought that with a good company, Milwaukee would support it for a short season. Mr. Young rented the Academy to me, in preference to others that had applied for it. Everything was in working order, when I received a letter from Mr. Riley, stating that his child was very sick and he could not come. Still I do not think that was the sole cause, as the opening might have been postponed; but stories have gone abroad that the Theatre could not be sustained here, and from the fact that one of the evening papers ridiculed the idea I am led to think that Mr. Riley, with the rest of the St. Louis company, was detered from making the attempt.

In answer to the Local of the Free Democrat, that actors never brought their children up to their profession, I could cite him numberless cases, but will be content with a few: Peter Logan, Dean, Richings, Warren, Russell (father of Mrs. Farren) Mrs. Farren, Mrs. Jones, Maywood, Sol. Smith and a hundred others whose children are an honor to the profession. But enough of this. Whether this city will be benefitted more without a Theatre, is a problem time alone will solve. I have done all that I could to establish one on a sure foundation, and it has failed—PERHAPS IF ANOTHER MAN LIKE "WEBB," WHO HAS DONE MORE TO INJURE THE PROFESSION THAN ANY MAN THAT EVER CAME HERE, SHOULD OPEN THE ACADEMY, HE MIGHT SUCCEED. To the News, SENTINEL and Wisconsin, for their endeavors to help me, and the favors I have received from the public for my humble endeavors to please them, I can only say that I thank them, and bid them, most respectfully, farewell.

C. H. WILSON.

LECTURE OF JOHN MITCHELL.—JOHN MITCHELL lectured last evening to a very respectable audience in Albany Hall, on "the Agony of Europe." The title, however, is a misnomer; the effort should have been called the "irrepressible conflict between France and England." The lecture was mainly a vindication of LOUIS NAPOLEON—a panegyric on France, and an open avowal of hatred to England.

His allusions to the inevitable conflict between the two rival nations, or, as he expressed it, between an "enfranchised people and an oligarchy," were loudly applauded, as indeed were all the severe things that he said of Great Britain. Mr. MITCHELL is a fine looking man, somewhat awkward in his manner as a lecturer, but enthusiastic, bold and candid.

ARMORY OF THE MILWAUKEE LIGHT GUARD, JUNE 7.—At a regular meeting of the Milwaukee Light Guard, held on the 5th inst., Surgeant C. C. MESERVEY's resignation as Secretary having been accepted, the following resolution was unanimously adopted and ordered published:

Resolved, That the thanks of this company are eminently due and the same are hereby tendered to Sergeant C. C. Meservey, for the able and efficient manner in which the duties of the office of Secretary have been performed while under his charge.

THOMAS H. SCHUYLER,

DEATH OF ROBERT MCNEAL.—We are requested to publish the following despatch:

CHICAGO, June 7, 1860.

To Collectors of Customs, Milwaukee:

Please inform Captain SPINK, of the schooner "Junietta Patton," that ROBERT MCNEAL died this morning at 5 o'clock.

T. J. KINSELLA,

Deputy Collector.

BASE BALL.—Our Milwaukee Base Ball Club had a lively and well-contested game yesterday afternoon; the two sides making 33 and 27 respectively, in nine innings. They play again to-morrow afternoon, weather permitting, and we advise the lovers of manly sports to go and see them.

C. WALL, City Auctioneer, comes out this morning with a new advertisement. Read and attend.

DIED:

In this city, June 7th, 1860, IRENE, wife of Capt. WILLIAM KYNASTON.

Funeral from the residence, 1st Avenue, Eighth Ward, to-day, at 2½ P. M. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

AGENTS WANTED.

LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED IN every Town in Illinois, and all the other western and North-western States, for the sale of the wares manufactured by the AMERICAN POTTERY, of Peoria, Ill. They consist of Granite, and C C Table and Toilet ware, plain and decorated, Vases, Ewers and ornamental ware: also, all varieties of Rockingham ware.

The Company have also commenced the manufacture of embossed Republican Club Ice Pitchers, Dining Pitchers, Bar Pitchers, Presentation Pitchers, ornamented with embossed devices illustrative of the events in the early life of the distinguished Republican Presidential nominee. Also, complete sets of embossed Lincoln Toilet Campaign ware.

The Company will also bring out embossed Squatter Sovereignty ware, with devices of border life, &c., should the result of the deliberations of the approaching Baltimore Convention warrant its production.

Orders for the Republican ware may be forwarded to the undersigned, at the Tremont House. Retail price of the embossed per pair will range from $5 to $15, according to size and style of finish.

The staple wares of the Company will be put into market at prices that will defy all competition with imported wares of like grades.

Clark's Enamelled Building Material is manufactured by the Company, and will be coupled with the sale of their crockery ware if desired.

These agencies afford inducements to men of the right stamp scarcely if ever offered to the people of the West. Applications should be made without delay to the undersigned at the Tremont House, Chicago. THOS. W. JOHNSON,

Presidential Election!

THE GREAT CAMPAIGN OF 1860 OPEN!!

Let Every Republican Prepare for the Conflict!!

Circulate Truth among the People!!

THE WEEKLY SENTINEL

Six Months for Less than Cost of Paper and Printing!!!

READ AND BE CONVINCED!

The present campaign is to be a memorable one. The battle will be fought zealously between the friends and the enemies of Freedom, and the ground contested inch by inch. In view of these facts, it is apparent that the dissemination of Republican papers and documents becomes of vast and vital importance. In order to furnish the WEEKLY SENTINEL to the people of the North-West, during the Campaign of 1860, we have concluded to offer the paper, FROM THE 1ST OF JUNE TO THE 1ST OF DECEMBER, at the following unprecedented liberal terms:

One Copy for	$0 50
Twenty Copies, (to one address)	$9 00
Fifty " " "	$20 00
One Hundred do " "	$35 00

These terms will barely cover the cost of paper before it is printed; but we have determined to put the price so low that every individual Republican, or organized Club, in this or adjoining States, will use their best endeavors to scatter the SENTINEL broadcast in their particular localities, and thus accomplish more than by the circulation of ten times as many documents in any other form. Every Campaign subscriber will receive the full returns of the election in November.

We need not urge upon our Republican friends the importance of placing this sheet in the hands of all. Let NO VOTER, or family in the State, be without the SENTINEL during the Campaign. Wheresoever facts are read and the people have access to truth, Republicanism prevails.

Send in your orders as early as possible.

CITY AUCTION ROOM.

AUCTIONS, SO FAR AS IS KNOWN, started in Rome, about the year 105, which were first held for sale of military spoils among soldiers behind a spear stuck in the ground (suppose the spear must have been red,) whence it was called auctio sub hasta (under the spear.) Subsequently sales were proclaimed by trumpet. Bids were made by holding up the fingers. A curious kind of auction, used, according to an old reporter (1. Dow. 3) to be held by females, who did not speak during the whole sale, but gave every person, the moment he bid, a glass of brandy. The red flag is the ordinary sign of the trade, and the auctioneer, with his hammer, his boisterous "going, going, gone," and his earnest, or humurous appeals to the company, is often a very original character.

Ware-house sale of sundry articles.—On Saturday morning, June 9th, 10 o'clock, at No. 165 East Water st., at my Auction Room, I will sell a great variety of sundry articles. NEW ARRANGEMENTS.

HUNN & CROSBY,

No. 184 East Water St., Milwaukee,

Two doors north of Uncle Ben's Hat Store.

TAKE THIS OCCASION TO ANNOUNCE to their friends, and the public at large, that they have removed from their old quarters to their present location, for the purpose of obtaining more ample accommodations for their business, and to keep pace with the requirements of their trade. We have just made heavy additions to our stock, which makes ours the best assorted Family Grocery in town, and we intend to be in future, as we always have been in the past, the first in the market with every novelty of the season. We are receiving goods every week from the East, thereby always keeping our stock fresh and full. Everything pertaining to the trade can be found at our establishment, and we are prepared to sell at wholesale as well as retail, on as favorable terms as any concern in town. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Dried Fruits, Hermetically Sealed Fruits, and every other article usually found in first-class family groceries, are sold by us, and always warranted as represented. We will sell you a better Tea for fifty cents, than you can buy anywhere else in town for seventy five, and as good a one for forty, as our windy cotemporaries, who make such a blow on Teas, will or can sell for fifty. We mean what we say, and stand ready to verify it every hour in the day, and every day in the week. We make it a point never to be undersold, and want it distinctly understood that we do our business upon that principle.

Country merchants can always sort up their stock with us, to a good advantage. We will sell you goods by the package as low as any of the wholesale dealers down town.

Butter and Eggs are received by us daily, from our agents in the country.

☞ TERMS CASH.

We cordially invite our friends and customers, and the public generally, to call and see us in our new institution, and make an examination of our goods and prices. Particular attention paid to orders.

NEW YORK.

WHEN COMPLETED, SIX YEARS ago, the St. Nicholas was universally pronounced the most magnificent, convenient, and thoroughly organized establishment of the kind on this continent. What it was then, it remains today—without a rival in sumptuousness, and in the general elements of comfort and enjoyment. The Hotel has accommodations for 1,000 guests, including 100 complete suites of apartments for families. Six hundred persons can be comfortably seated at the tables of its three public dining rooms, and nothing that modern art has devised for the convenience and social gratification of the traveling public has been omitted in its plan, or is neglected in its practical details. The early reputation of the house at home and abroad derived from its magnitude, its superb appointments, and its homelike comforts and luxuries, has been enhanced every year by the unwearied exertions of the proprietors.

THIRD CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:
H. LANDEMAN, of Jefferson.

"CIRCULATE THE DOCUMENTS."

THE CAMPAIGN SENTINEL.—We continue to receive large additions to our subscription list, from all quarters of the State, and letters from many old friends and fellow-laborers in the good cause, filled with suggestions as to the coming campaign. We venture to publish the following as a "specimen brick:"

DEAR SIR:—I send you another list from this town. Every Republican hereabouts is anxious to get the news, as soon as possible, and they know of no better way than to subscribe for the old standard-bearer, the WEEKLY SENTINEL. Some of the best Republicans in this vicinity say they can get along, and will go without their tea, before they will go without the SENTINEL. So send it along, and we will greet it with three cheers, and three more for LINCOLN and HAMLIN.

Yours, H. J. M.

We trust that the friends of LINCOLN and HAMLIN, all over this State, appreciate the importance of giving the widest possible circulation to Republican newspapers and documents. Now is the accepted time. Our Republican Clubs should see to it that every locality is supplied with some good campaign paper. The local newspaper is justly entitled to preference, and after that we shall be happy to furnish the Campaign SENTINEL on terms so cheap as to enable a few "wide-awake" Republicans, in each School District, to place it in the hands of almost every voter in their respective precincts. We again urge our friends, who have the success of the Republican cause at heart, to give this matter their prompt and earnest attention.

A Conflict of Authority.

We stated, on authority of a colored gentleman of this city, that the abolitionists of the Gerrit Smith and Garrison school were so well satisfied with Lincoln that they would vote for him. To this the Sentinel replies that Wendell Phillips and other leading Garrisonians have openly proclaimed their preference for Douglas over Lincoln. This shows that our information was mistaken, unless the abolitionists vote against their preference. If they prefer Douglas, we hope they will vote for him, as every vote counts at an election.—News of yesterday.

And as Mr. DOUGLAS, if a candidate, will need "every vote," we do not wonder that the News, with all its affected horror for "abolitionists," should now solicit their "aid and comfort." The News seems to have overlooked the reason, which "the abolitionists of the GERRITT SMITH and GARRISON school" assign for their preference. They say that if LINCOLN is elected President, the country will make no progress towards abolition, while if DOUGLAS shall be chosen, they have good hopes of continued slavery agitation and increasing discord between the North and South. These are the patriotic motives that induce them to prefer DOUGLAS to LINCOLN, and prompt them to oppose the latter, and thus, directly, or indirectly, contribute to the success of the former.

A UNITED OPPOSITION.—The Pittsburgh Gazette says that of the 150 Opposition journals in Pennsylvania, but two support BELL and EVERETT, with one doubtful.

The Newark Mercury says: "From every quarter we have the same information, and undoubting assurances of co-operation from all the elements of the Opposition. There is no third party in the State."

There is but one paper in all New England that supports the BELL and EVERETT ticket, and that is the Boston Courier, the organ of Boston Old Fogyism.

CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION.—The Republicans of the Fourth Congressional District of Michigan have nominated ROLAND E. TROWBRIDGE, of Oakland, as their candidate for Representative.

The Detroit Daily Advertiser says:

"Mr. Trowbridge was a member of the State Senate, from Oakland County, during the Session of 1857 and 1859, and proved himself an intelligent, faithful and efficient legislator. He is a gentleman of popular manners, fine talent, rigid integrity, and a practical and enterprising business man.—When elected, of which there is of course no doubt, he will represent his district with honor to himself and advantage to the people."

SOMEBODY SOLD.—The SENTINEL intimates that we have been "sold" by Mr. J. L. Davis, since his return from the East. As we have not seen Mr. Davis since his return, we think it more than likely that he has "sold" somebody else. It appears that the editor of the SENTINEL has had an interview with him, and admits having purchased some staple commodities of him.—News.

On the contrary, we stated that we declined purchasing any such commodities; being satisfied with the manner in which Mr. DAVIS sold the News with "fancy" political intelligence from New York.

Letter from W. P. Fessenden.

The subjoined letter was received by the Chairman of the Republican City Committee of Portland, Maine, at the late Ratification meeting held in that place:

WASHINGTON, May 23, 1860.

MY DEAR SIR—I should like, of all things, to be with you on the 30th, and to help you ratify the nominations. Apart from the pleasure of being at home at this pleasant season of the year, I should be happy to congratulate my friends in person upon the favorable auspices with which we commence the campaign, and to express my entire satisfaction with the doings of the Convention. Duty, however, will necessarily detain me here, and I must therefore content myself with this expression of thanks for your invitation, and regret that I am unable to meet your wishes.

Good and true men have been selected to bear our standard. Mr. Lincoln will carry to the Executive Chair great and unquestioned ability, a pure heart and a spotless name.

You all know Mr Hamlin, and nothing I can say will add to his reputation with those whom he has long served and faithfully. Our State feels a just pride in such a son, and nobly will she vindicate the honor conferred on her through him.

The Democratic party is rent in twain. Its sectional quarrel cannot be reconciled, for neither party is contending for truth, either in principle or practice; and no compromise can relieve the difficulty. Squatter (not popular) sovereignty is a transparent fallacy, which finds no sanction either in law or morals. Congressional intervention for the protection of slavery in the Territories, is based upon an unwarrantable assumption of judicial power, over a question not submitted for judicial decision, and is abhorrent to the principles on which our Government is founded. We oppose to both these heresies the uniform construction given to the Constitution by those who made it; the long established practice of the Government, and the eternal principles of justice.

In such a contest, with a platform broad and comprehensive, looking to the rights and interests of the whole people, and with such gallant and noble leaders, victory must wait upon our banners, for no patriots can fail to uphold it.

Your friend, very truly,
W. P. FESSENDEN.

NO DIFFERENCE ABOUT THE START.—The Louisville Journal thinks it makes very little difference whether the Democrats start from Baltimore or Richmond in the Presidential race. The party is going down hill on the Isochronous curve, the mechanical effect of which will be to send it to the bottom by its own gravity, in the same time, no matter at what point it is started.

LETTERS FROM A PEDESTRIAN.

NUMBER FIVE.

Travels through Town and Country.

From an Occasional Correspondent.

WATERVILLE, June 5th, 1860.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—On Friday last, at precisely 12 o'clock M., a company of four young men, of whom your correspondent was one, departed from the village of Waukesha on a pedestrian excursion to Summit and the north-western part of the county.—We were to spend the next day in looking over the beautiful farms in that section and to attend the ordination of the deacons and priests at Nashota Episcopal Seminary, on the Sabbath.

Writing without the knowledge of the aforesaid young gentlemen, and not having permission to use their names, or identify them by any allusions, we shall be compelled to refrain from mentioning many little incidents by the way that were pleasant in themselves, and served to enliven our journey, and confine our observations to items of general interest.

Between Waukesha and Waterville the surface of the country is quite broken. The Waterville Hills—a chain of bluffs with precipitous sides and deep vallies between—tower above the neighboring peaks and can be seen from a long distance. The land is uniformly of good quality, and, to a great extent, cultivated. The crops look unusually well and are growing finely. Some of the farmers were already using the cultivator on their corn—an operation rather uncommon on the 1st of June, in Wisconsin.

The spring wheat has grown very fast for the last ten days, and is now so tall and stout that the farmers are afraid it will grow all to straw and get so tangled up that they cannot harvest it. To avoid such a calamity, some have turned their cattle into the grain fields to pasture it down, and others are about to cut off the tips with scythes.

Waterville is a little country village, ten miles from Waukesha, on a nameless stream, that affords a good water power for the mill. We stopped a short time at the tavern to get a drink of water and rest ourselves, and then entered one of the finest farming regions of the West.

We passed through the "Chunney Place," and leaving the beautiful residence of CHAS. WHITAKER on the right, came to the model farm of Wisconsin, owned by Mr. E. W. EDGERTON, and confessedly the handsomest and best arranged farm we ever saw. It consists of three hundred and twenty acres of "burr oak opening land," and as it is very level, and nearly all the trees and stumps removed, it can scarcely be distinguished from prairie. The Bark river, a stream of chrystal clearness, runs along near the barn, and crosses the road, affording a grand watering place for the stock. The owner of the farm, with two or three men, were washing sheep by the bridge when we passed.

The road on both sides is enclosed by a fence that would grace a city residence. The boards are planed and nicely painted; the posts charred to prevent rotting; the gates at proper intervals, well made, strong and durable, and the whole finished off so tastily that we could scarcely believe it to be a farm fence.

The barns are large and commodious, capable of holding quantities of grain and hay, and sheltering a large amount of stock.

The farm house is pleasantly situated on a slope descending to the road, and the river and the out-houses in the rear, are very ornamental.

A beautiful garden of vegetables, flowers and fruit is an attractive feature, and manifests the cultivated taste of the residents. A spring of living water, gushing forth by the road side, is enclosed by a neat fence, and shaded by beautiful trees. We went in at the gate, took down the cup from its nail, and deliberately broke the Tenth Commandment, while we drank of the the cool and refreshing waters.

As we were only traveling through the place, entirely unacquainted with its owner, and depending on our own observations for our information, we cannot enumerate its many excellencies, but we think that any farmer or person interested in agriculture, who has any taste for order, beauty and good management in rural affairs, would be fully rewarded for a visit to this place.

We were now in the town of Summit, famed for its excellent soil, its beautiful lakes, and groves, and its enterprising inhabitants. Here, if anywhere, the tiller of the soil should be contented. He has everything necessary to his prosperity and comfort. His farm is not a barren prairie, devoid of wood and water, and remote from market, neither is it heavy timbered land that cumbers the ground and requires a lifetime to clear and prepare for cultivation; it is the beautiful oak openings, the orchards of the west, supplied with enough wood without having too much, beautifully watered with lakes, springs and rivulets of surpassing sweetness and purity; having a soil of marvellous productiveness and convenient by railroad to the greatest grain markets in the world. The farmers in this section are not satisfied with having good land and raising large crops, merely. They adopt the more commendable policy of applying the money they obtain for their produce, and devoting their energies to improving their farms and making their homes pleasant and comfortable.

When we were passing the place formerly owned by Senator WORTHINGTON we noticed a sheet of water sparkling in the sunbeams, and surrounded by shady groves of oak and hickory. This was Genesee Lake, and as the road was quite near we resolved to go in and enjoy the luxury of a swim. A large oak and some bushes furnished the dressing room and we were soon buffeting the waves, and tumbling and thrashing about in the water. The Lake is quite deep, has a smooth sandy beach, and is a capital place for fishing and swimming.

Much invigorated by our bath, we walked along a few miles through some excellent farms to the McDonald House at Summit Centre. Here one of our company left, and agreed to join us again the next morning at some place near Oconomowoc. The balance of the party travelled on two miles to the homestead of Mr. GEORGE C——, one of the most industrious and thrifty farmers in Summit, where we were to pass the night.

The Squire has a splendid farm of one hundred and sixty acres, a large part of which is under cultivation. His dwelling house and barns are commodious, substantial, and finished off with a degree of taste that puts to shame the majority of farm buildings in Wisconsin. We chatted with his very interesting family till a late hour, slept soundly all night, and immediately after breakfast were again on our way.

The morning was lowering and unpleasant, and though it did not actually rain, we were in momentary expectation of that event. We retraced our steps to Summit Centre, and after going a short distance north, came to the old territorial road from Milwaukee to Madison. Before the railroads were built, there was an immense travel on this road. Almost every third house was a tavern, and even then in the spring and fall, they were invariably crowded. The great immigration, and transportation of goods and produce into Central and Western Wisconsin, was mainly by this route.

When we arrived at the place appointed for meeting our absentee, we found a notice tacked up informing us that he had gone to Ixonia, in Jefferson Co., and we might follow him if we chose. Rather surprised at this cool proceeding, we posted after the miscreant, and overtook him in about an hour, at a farmer's house where he was enjoying himself with some female acquaintances.

Just as we entered the house, the rain that had been threatening all the morning, poured down heavily, and we were glad to enjoy the shelter, the dinner and the company.

About four o'clock it stopped raining, and we went out with our host to look over the farm. The surface of the country is pretty hilly here, and the quality of land is very good.

From the top of a prominent peak called "Mount McAfferty," we could see over an extensive region. The La Belle Lake, with its beautiful islands cosily reposing on its bosom, lay at our feet, the village of Oconomowoc a little further on, and away in the dim distance, the Waterville Hills raised their rugged crests. On Saturday night we enjoyed the hospitalities of Mr. M——, a farmer living near Oconomowoc, in the wooded section. The groves here are magnificent. The stately maple and oak give one an indescribable feeling of awe, as he wanders beneath their branches and enjoys the coolness of their shade. On Sabbath morning we walked over to Nashota, to attend the ordination of deacons and priests of the Episcopal Church, which was to occur at half past ten.

It was Trinity Sunday, the day of the year sat apart for these exercises, and contrary to the premonitions of the day before the weather was very pleasant. On these occasions there is usually a great assemblage of persons from all parts of the surrounding country, and many come from distant parts of the State. While we were traveling three miles of our way, not less than thirty carriages and wagons passed us loaded with persons for the ordination. The Nashota Seminary is an institution designed to prepare and educate young men for the Christian Ministry in the Episcopal Church. It has had an existence for nearly twenty years and although struggling much of the time with the difficulties and privations incident to pioneer life, it has been the happy instrument of accomplishing much good for the Western country.

The buildings of the institution are pleasantly located on the bank of one of the twin lakes, and the grounds unoccupied by the beautiful flower gardens are covered with the original shade trees of the forest.

The new and capacious chapel now nearly finished is situated on a bank gently sloping down to the water's edge. Bishop White's Hall, a short distance farther back, is a rather old looking building, of Milwaukee brick, three stories high, with attic dormitories. Here the students have their rooms, and the lower story is partly appropriated to the library.—The refectory is a low mud-colored structure a short distance from the hall, where the young gentlemen get their meals.

The exercises of the day were just commencing as we arrived, and twenty Episcopal Ministers, in their immaculate robes, preceded by the candidates for holy orders, and followed by the venerable Bishop KEMPER, were marching in ghostly procession to the new chapel. After a little ceremony the reverend gentlemen marched up the aisle, took their seats on the platform, and the services began. The chapel was not finished inside, and the rough stone work and timbers were all exposed. Temporary seats were constructed for the occasion, and white muslin stretched across the window frames for glass.

The house was literally crammed, and about two hundred were unable to get admitted at all. Only the ladies and the gentlemen accompanying them were provided with seats, and your poor correspondent, with many other unfortunates, submitting meekly to necessity, stood up "auribus occulisque erectis" for three weary hours.

While sighing and groaning in inaudible intensity, we quietly noted down for future reference in our memorandum, "always take a lady with you when going to a thronged assembly, if you want a seat."

The solemn and impressive service of the church was read, and the responses of so vast a multitude filled the house and re-echoed among the lofty arches like the roar of a cataract.

The Rev. Dr. BOLLS, (I beg the gentleman's pardon if I have misspelled his name,) from Boston, next addressed the congregation, on the subject of the priesthood, adverting to its duties and its influence on the character of a people. His text was somewhere in Hosea. After the sermon one of the priests presented the candidates to the Bishop, who read the appointed questions and admonitions, and after the imposition of hands closed the services with the benediction. Three young men were ordained as deacons and a fourth person as priest. More anon.

AGRICOLA.

Garibaldi's Officers.

The Siecle publishes a letter from M. RICCIARDI containing some interesting details of the seven officers who, under GARIBALDI, command the Cacciatori delle Alpi.

La Masa is known through the brilliant part he took in the insurrection witnessed by the city of Palermo on the 12th of January, 1848, and also through his having taken part in the war of independence as a chief over some Sicilian volunteers. He contributed also to the defence of Messina against the royal troops, in the month of December, 1848. During his exile he published a few political and historical works, one of which was an account of the events of which Sicily was the theatre in 1848 and 1849.

Carni, who is also a Sicilian, got up a regiment of cavalry at Palermo during the revolutionary period of 1848 and 1849, and when the revolution broke down he tried to serve in exile not only the cause of Sicily, but also that of Italy, by his French and Italian Review, which appeared at Paris until the commencement of 1859.

Stocco, a native of Calabria, is well known and very popular in that part of the Neapolitan kingdom. In 1848, he was one of my trustiest and bravest lieutenants in the insurrection of the Calabrias, and he especially gave proof of his bravery and skill on the 27th of June, during that combat at large odds between Angitola and Maida, that lasted nearly twelve hours, and in which from four to five hundred Calabrians were seen fighting simultaneously against nearly all the troops commanded by Gen. Nunziante, which troops would have been utterly defeated had the other Calabrian chiefs come up to the aid of Stocco.

Carioli is the brother of one of those glorious volunteers who were killed last year in the war against Austria. As soon as he heard of Garibaldi's plans, he came here in haste from Pavia, and it was his own mother, who, still in mourning for her eldest son, presented him to the General, and, as if she had done nothing yet, presented to him the sum of thirty thousand francs! I can tell you that traits of this kind are by no means rare with us, especially of late; and truly such a case does not furnish the least plain proof of the complete moral change that has been effected in Italy, and of the happy destiny that awaits it.

Nino Bixio, a native of Genoa, is much liked here, and most popular in Italy.—Wounded at Rome in 1849, by the side of his compatriot and friend, Godefroy Mameli, he formed part in 1859 of the legion commanded by Garibaldi, one of whose brilliant lieutenants he was. Used to the sea like Garibaldi, having served as a ship-captain on a long voyage, he has just rendered eminent services to the expedition, in which he commands the Lombards.

Orsini contributed greatly to the insurrection at Palermo in January of 1848, and was one of the principal defenders of Messina in September of the same year. In 1849 he defended the rest of Sicily against the royal troops, commanded by Filangieri.—Compelled to flee, he took service in Turkey, with the rank of a Colonel of Artillery; but at the very first cry from Sicily he did not fail to come, and will no doubt render great services to the cause of his country by his special knowledge.

DOUGLAS ON COWS.—A clever writer in the Scioto Gazette thus illustrates the duplicity of DOUGLAS:

"But that Stephen A. Douglas should object to a juggling dodge because of its duplicity, is truly refreshing! It has been his study, day and night, for the last six years, to conceal his real position (if he has any, which no man can prove) by ambiguous phrases, capable of two or more interpretations. We have often thought if it became necessary for the Little Giant, in a public speech or a political resolution, to refer to a cow, he would never write or speak the word as other men, c-o-w—cow; but would put it in this style: 'the female quadruped which supplies the human family with lacteal fluid.'—See the advantage! Egypt would swear the Little Giant meant their favorite camel, and would grow enthusiastic. Lovers of 'switzer cheese' would regard him sound on the goat and support him. The 'Arabs' (we have a large class of them) would quote his language as proof positive he was a lover of mares; while the denizens of the Blue Grass Region would never for a moment suspect he could have meant any other animal than the bovine female."

THE IOWA TORNADOES.

Camanche and Albany Destroyed—One Hundred and Nine Persons Killed in Iowa—The Country Desolated from Cedar Rapids to Camanche—Farms and Stock Destroyed—The Appearance of the Tornadoes—Narrow Escapes—Miraculous Incidents—A Raft on the Mississippi Destroyed and Twenty-Four Lives Lost—The Burial Services—Contributions &c.

From our own Reporter.

CLINTON, June 5, 1860.

As I write you, all the charming little villages which dot the fertile slopes on either side of the Chicago, Iowa and Nebraska Railroad between Cedar Rapids and Camanche, a station five miles northwest of Clinton, are wrapped in desolation and their inhabitants clad in the vestures of mourning. The terrific tornadoes, of which the telegraph has furnished condensed facts, have passed over them like the wings of the destroying angel, and towns which one moment stood beautiful in the setting sun, at the next moment, in a second, in the twinkling of an eye, were razed to the ground in one mass of chaotic ruins; hearth stones were destroyed; the hopes of the farmer and mechanic thwarted by the terrible Cyclone; and many family circles in an instant broken, past reuniting. In many places here and there a house destroyed and twisted into fanciful shapes, a ragged mass of shivered timbers or a crumbling chimney alone marks the site of a town.

The tornadoes, for they were two in number, commenced as near as can be ascertained at a little town called Palo, a short distance above Cedar Rapids, about 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, and rapidly progressed to Cedar Rapids, gathering size and force in their course. At Cedar Rapids, they veered and almost miraculously passed on either side, of the town. On the west side, five houses were completely demolished, one man killed and one severely injured. Miss Lutz living between Marion and Cedar Rapids was also killed. South of the Rapids, two houses were blown down, but their occupants escaped. In the woods near this point, a man observed the tornado approaching and instantly threw himself among some hazel bushes with his face to the ground and clung to their branches for protection. They passed over him, hurling him a distance of some rods and stripping every vestige of clothing from his body. Another man was surprised in a similar manner and threw his arms around a young beech tree, holding on with all his strength, which was considerable, as he was an unusually powerful man. The whirlwind, however, as quick as thought, unwrenched his grasp, as one would snap a pipe stem, hurled him into the air and dashed him to the ground, and twice and thrice repeated it, of course leaving him a corpse. Another man, as established by affidavits of respectable citizens of Bertram, the first station east of Cedar Rapids, was caught up from the town plat, hurled in the air and carried high above the timber until he was out of sight. Cattle, horses and sheep were also drawn up in the airy Maelstrom whirled terrifically about and dashed to the earth again with a force which reduced them to a mere pulpy mass. The prairies between Cedar Rapids and Dewitt are literally strewn with the carcasses of cattle, and the loss in stock alone must be immense. There is scarcely a farmer between the two stations, a distance of forty miles, but has suffered the loss of either a part or the whole of his stock.

Passing around Bertram and filling its streets with leaves, grass, branches and stones, which came down in terrible showers, the tornadoes passed around the outskirts of the beautiful villages of Mt. Vernon and Lisbon, one just touching the northerly portion of the latter, and the other passing through the country south-west of Mt. Vernon.

At Lisbon, the large brick and frame grain warehouses belonging to merchants of that town, and the freight depot of the C. I. & N. R. R. were utterly demolished and their contents scattered to the four winds of heaven. Ten freight cars were hurled from the track and broken up. One of them heavily loaded with lumber was lifted into the air and turned over twice, finally descending with such force as to completely shiver the car and its contents into indistinguishable fragments and splinters. Four persons were killed in the vicinity of Lisbon and one at Roger's Settlement, a village a few miles from Lisbon, whose names had not been ascertained at the time of our departure.

The lovely town of Mt. Vernon was spared, but the neighboring country was the scene of terrible devastation. The crops in the path of the whirlwind were beaten down; barns were destroyed and stock in large numbers, inflicting an almost irreparable loss upon the farmers. Trees were twisted off and one immense oak, measuring nearly three feet in diameter at the base, was torn up by the roots, lifted into the air and dashed down again a few feet from its original situation, burying itself some three or four feet in the ground. In the vicinity of Mt. Vernon, five persons are known to have been killed, but their names are unknown, or were not handed in to the Committee at the time of our leaving.

The next place which felt the effects of the tornado, was the little town of Mechanicsville. It passed through the outskirts of the village, sweeping everything in its course. Nine dead bodies were found within a short distance of the town, and nineteen persons were injured, two of them seriously. At Onion Grove, two persons were killed; and one at Eden, a small settlement between Cedar Rapids and De Witt.

At DeWitt, especially in the township, the tornado was felt with fearful force. At this place it crossed the track in a southerly direction, passing through a portion of country occupied entirely by farmers, destroying many farms and killing a great amount of stock. An old farmer, named George Ames, living in a large brick house, saw the storm rapidly approaching, and gathering his family together went into the potato hole in the cellar. The house was entirely demolished, but the whole family were saved. At Purcell's, four were wounded; at Feller's, six; at Betsey's, five. At Mr. Hatfield's, six persons by the name of Foster, were killed—Mr. H.'s daughter, Sarah Fry and her child, were also killed. At John Wallace's immense farm, eight were wounded, some of them seriously. Mr. W.'s loss is over $20,000. Mr. Walrod, his wife and child were killed, and his sister-in-law and child were dying when we left. Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire, living upon the same farm, were killed.—Three Germans and two Irish, names unknown, were also killed. The village proper of De Witt escaped. In Orange township, west of De Witt, Isaac Smith was killed.

But the most terrible effects of the tornadoes were felt at

CAMANCHE.

The day had been very hot and sultry, but about seven o'clock the sky was clear and gave evidence of a beautiful sunset. At seven o'clock, the tornadoes were seen coming with the rapidity of lightning. The sky assumed a yellowish, brassy aspect, and the air seemed dead. The tornadoes themselves resembled huge balloons at first, about the size of a barrel, but gradually increasing and swelling. At one time they rose and again fell to the earth, their black folds undulating and whirling with snapping, crackling reports like a volley of musketry, distinctly audible at a great distance. The interior of the airy tunnels was filled with a heterogeneous mass of leaves, branches of trees, timbers and stones, which seemed to impart a yellowish tinge inside the black outer folds. There was but little time for gazing, however, for in an instant, and with a force inconceivable, the doomed town was struck full in the centre, and the air choked with fragments of timbers, bricks, stones, furniture, and in many places, with human beings, who were hurled about like straws. The affrighted horses and cattle filled the air with their terrible and shrill screams; but above all was heard the snapping and cracking of these fearful besoms of destruction.

The scene well nigh beggars description and one, after gazing upon it, only wonders how a single person was left to tell the tale. There are but one or two buildings in this town of 2,000 souls which were untouched; all the others are a shapeless mass of ruins. In many places, for several acres, every remnant of a house is gone and only a few scattered slivers mark the spot where they stood. A singular feature of the scene is the fact that from one end of the town to the other not a vestige of the furniture can be found. Here and there a few shreds of clothing, or a mattrass torn into ribbons, tell that the town was once inhabited.

The principal buildings in Camanche were the Millard House, a fine brick structure. The Waldorf Block, a four story brick, valued at $40,000; Evers & Co.'s dry goods store; Anthony's steam saw mill and two churches—all of which are in ruins.

The names of the killed are as follows, being furnished to our reporter by the committee at Camanche: Hannah Curran, G. G. Westphaal, wife and child, Aret Hoff, Mary Greenleaf, Elizabeth Rathbone, D. Waggoner, Deidleff Stollenburg, Amelia Davis, Charles Davis, Leza Burnam, Philip Peeper, Margaret Foss, Mary Foss, Eli Milliron, Mr. and Mrs. George Burnham, Joseph Stollenburg, Theodore Arpe, Harry McKendrick, S. D. Bigelow, Jacob Meyle, Augusta Meyle and two children, Mary Knapp, Weymond White, and a child of Geo. W. Chase. Total 29. The official list in the hands of the Committee reports 82 wounded, many of them seriously, and fifteen are reported missing, three of whom it is supposed were blown into the river.

DESTRUCTION OF ALBANY.

After destroying Camanche, the tornado crossed the river, forming an immense water spout. In this connection we should have mentioned before, that every time it crossed the river it drew up an immense quantity of water, which was dashed with fearful violence wherever it struck. In crossing the river, it struck a raft containing twenty-six persons and dashed it to pieces in an instant. Only two of the entire number escaped, they being blown ashore through the water.

On reaching the opposite bank, the whirlwind took a northerly direction and dashed upon Albany, two miles distant, with terrific force, destroying almost every house in town, populated by 800 inhabitants. The large warehouses of Dennis & Lincoln, C. P. Pease, McIlvaine & Happer, and Durant & Haines, upon the levee, were entirely destroyed. Scarcely a house was left standing in the town. It was an exact counterpart of the destruction of Camanche, except that the loss of life was much smaller. At the time of our leaving, only five were known to be killed, as follows: Edward Effer, Duty Breck, L. Jewett, Martin O. Kelly and C. Alexander. Eight were severely wounded, viz.: Lewis Bates, Joseph Riley and wife, Justice Riley, Mrs. W. Slocum, Mary Stagg, Mrs Swett and Hanson Nevitt.

Both the towns of Camanche and Albany are entirely ruined, and it is a doubtful problem whether they will ever be rebuilt. Most of the houses were owned in part by the tenants, who have yet payments to make upon them. These men are poor and entirely ruined, and will be unable to meet their payments soon coming due. Everything is wrapped in utter desolation, and strong men seem to be palsied as they look upon the future. They have lost houses, furniture, stock and clothing, and are thrust out into the world, ruined in an instant.

NUMBER OF KILLED.

The following carefully prepared list embraces the number of those killed in Iowa. It will, we think, be found nearly correct.

Cedar Rapids	2	Mechanicsville	9
Mt. Vernon	5	Onion Grove	2
Rogers Settlement	1	De Witt	25
Eden	1	Camanche	29
Orange	1	Albany	5
Lisbon	4	Blown from raft	24
	14		95
Total			109

The above list does not include those killed in this State, and published in our issue of yesterday. In all of the places mentioned above, except Camanche and Albany, the bodies were found in the townships and not in the village proper.

After leaving Albany, the tornado passed into this State, where the record of its ravages has been already published.

As the distance traversed by the tornado was about 150 miles, allowing for its deviations, and the time of its passage from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to Sterling, was less than two hours, one may form an idea of the terrible velocity with which it swept along in its course of destruction.—Chi. Journal, June 6

LINCOLN AMONG THE CHILDREN.—The following circumstance was related by a teacher from the Five Points' House of Industry in New York:

"Our Sunday School in the Five Points was assembled one Sabbath morning a few months since, when I noticed a tall and remarkable looking man enter the room and take a seat among us. He listened with fixed attention to our exercises, and his countenance manifested such genuine interest that I approached him, and suggested that he might be willing to say something to the children. He accepted the invitation with evident pleasure, and coming forward, began a simple address, which at once fascinated every little hearer, and hushed the room into silence. His language was strikingly beautiful, and his tones musical with intensest feeling. The little faces around would droop into sad conviction as he uttered sentences of warning, and would brighten into sunshine as he spoke cheerful words of promise. Once or twice he attempted to close his remarks, but the imperative shout of 'Go on!' 'Oh, do go on!' would compel him to resume. As I looked upon the gaunt and sinewy frame of the stranger and marked his powerful head and determined features, now touched into softness by the impressions of the moment, I felt an irresistible curiosity to learn something more about him, and when he was quietly leaving the room, I begged to know his name. He courteously replied, 'It is Abraham Lincoln of Illinois.'"

THE BEGGAR AND THE WORLDLING.

BY MRS. M. L. BOSTWICK.

A beggar stands at my door, Mabel—
A shivering, silent child;
O, why is he wandering, weary and alone,
Out in the night so wild?
Bid him begone,
Though the night is bitter and wild.

There is food in my house, and fire, Mabel,
For paupers of different kin,
But none for this wanderer, lonely and late,
This child that may not come in.
Sad fate! sad fate!
But the beggar must not come in.

Still knocking and knocking! Go tell him
Of houses where he may repose;
Where the banquet halls are richer than mine,
And the couches of purple and rose.
Fragrant and fine
Are the couches of purple and rose.

Will he none of your counsel, my Mabel?
Then hearken to what I say,
For now by stratagem, foul or fair,
The beggar must go his way;
No sleep, no prayer,
Till the beggar is on his way!

Go empty the plates from the board, Mabel,
And scatter the nosegays about;
And the last red drop from the cordial cup
Drain out, good child, drain out!
For how can he sup
When viands and cordials are out?

Quench all the beautiful lamps, Mabel,
Break every harp-string, sweet;
Heap ice on the fire till it floods the floor,
And drips at the beggar's feet;
Under the floor,
Drips at the beggar's feet.

Now softly, carefully step, Mabel,
And open the hall-door wide;
Oh, house; more dreary and dark than the street,
He never will come inside!
Poor feet! poor feet!
They never will come inside!

THE DWARF OF THE OLD OAK CHEST.

COMPLETE IN THREE CHAPTERS.

[CONCLUDED.]

Everard lay in a state of dreamy bewilderment, the vision, as it were, still floating before him, till daylight began to appear thro' the window above, and then he roused himself, and looked out on the apartment, wondering whether the adventure of the night was a reality or only a dream. Reason told him it was nothing but a creation on his brain during sleep, yet it dwelt powerfully on his mind.

As soon as Wolfe had left him, after his customary visit that morning, he took out all the books from the chest, and got in to see if he could find any spring or crevice where there might be some secret opening. But he had not enough light for a very close inspection, as Wolfe had taken the lamp away with him, so after feeling every part with his hands, and finding nothing, he set about examining the outside, and made an attempt to move the chest from its place, but it was fitted into the corner as firm as a rock, and then it struck him that it was no movable piece of furniture, but part of the room itself, and on rapping with his knuckles on the two sides that were against the wall, he found that one sounded more hollow than the other, and concluded there was an opening behind it.

That side of the chest then, might possibly be moved if he could only find out the way, and after trying in vain to slide it right and left, he thought of pressing it downwards, when oh, joy unspeakable! it yielded at last, and disclosed an aperture that looked like a secret passage, but of this he could not be sure till he had a light to explore it.

Elated with this discovery, which corresponded so miraculously with his night vision, he drew up the artful contrived door, again replaced the books, and closed the lid of the chest just as the man came with his dinner.

He was too much excited to eat, so he complained of not being well, and this ruse did him some service, inasmuch as it procured him those stimulants, which, in case of a nocturnal enterprise, he knew would be a very good assistant.

Never had any day appeared so long as this; but it came to an end at last. The lamp was lighted, his supper was brought in, and he was left alone for the night.

He was not a moment in beginning the work before him. He felt as if his liberty was already regained; and having taken the books out of the chest and opened the sliding door, he deposited the meat and bread left for his supper, together with the small bottle, in his pocket, put on his traveling coat and cap, which fortunately had been restored to him, and placing the lamp in a lantern so that the wind would not blow out the light, he passed through the opening and drew up the door, finding that he could open it on that side as well as the other, and thus the chest would, in the room, present its ordinary appearance.

The narrow passage he had entered seemed to run between two stone walls, and at the end of about two hundred yards was terminated by a flight of rough stone steps leading to a spacious vault. Here, on the opposite side, was a low archway that seemed to be the entrance to a long, subterranean passage, extremely damp, but from which the air was not altogether excluded, for Everard could now and then feel it blowing fresh and cold on his face.

After walking on, as he supposed, about a quarter of a mile, he came at length into a cave that seemed to be hewn out of a rock; and the only means of egress from this was a hole, so small that it scarcely admitted of his crawling through on his hands and knees.—To accomplish this he was obliged to divest himself of his cloak and coat, which he put through first, with his lantern, and then he followed with some difficulty, and found himself once more standing in the open air, free to go where he pleased.

His joy knew no bounds, and he uttered a fervent thanksgiving to the Great Power that had sent him so wonderful a deliverance.

The moon was shining brightly, and the frost was crisp on the ground.

He looked round but could see no signs of the building he had left, and from the appearance of the scene, as far as he could judge by the moonlight, he thought he must be in a forest, but he cared not, for any place where he was at liberty would have seemed a paradise to him.

The cold was intense, but he fortified himself against it, and then he set forward briskly along a narrow path, that in about an hour brought him to the verge of the wood.

He was now upon a wide heath, which he traversed without meeting a single human being, and the first inhabited place he came to was a small hamlet; but as no one was stirring, he still went on, though he was by this time very much fatigued.

At last he descried a solitary farm house with some out-buildings, where he thought he might find shelter for a few hours; nor was he disappointed, for a barn door stood invitingly open, and inside he found a truss of straw that served him for a bed, and he slept there till dawn of day.

He was awakened by the barking of the dogs, and not wishing to be observed, again set forth rested and refreshed, for he had eaten some of the food he had brought with him, and now that he could see the country he felt satisfied that he was not out of England, an opinion that was soon confirmed by his arrival at a large village, where he learned that he was about five miles from the city of York. To York then he determined to go, and he reached the market place just as the clocks were striking ten.

His first care was to secure a place by the earliest coach for London, which he was told would start from that inn at twelve o'clock, and then he ordered some breakfast and a newspaper, intending by means of the latter to find out, without asking the question, what was the month and the day, for he was still ignorant on these points.

"I am afraid we have no paper later than Monday, sir," said the waiter.

"Very well, bring me that. Let me see, this is Thursday?"

"No sir, Wednesday."

"Ah, yes, Wednesday. Well, never mind, let me have Monday's paper."

The paper was brought, and he discovered that Monday was the 19th day of January, consequently this was the 21st; therefore he might yet be with Mary on the anniversary of his departure which was the 27th.

But he found some intelligence in this paper of even more importance than the date. It was the death of the Vicar of Springfield, and the announcement of his own succession to the benefice. This was unexpected news indeed. He was now comparatively a rich man, and there was nothing to prevent his immediate union with her he had so long and fondly loved. Joyfully and with a grateful heart he commenced his journey, being amply supplied with money for traveling expenses in consequence of his own prudent foresight in having secreted his bank notes, and on reaching London he only stayed to take the necessary steps with regard to the transfer of the living, and then proceeded with all speed to Woodstock, for it was near that town the Archers resided.

It was the twenty-seventh of January, 1830, late in the evening. Mary was sitting opposite the fire with some work in her hand, but gazing pensively on the showers of bright sparks ascending the wide chimney, and thinking of him who, on that same evening the previous year, had sat by her side, painting with hopeful spirits their happy future, when marriage bliss should crown their youthful love and constancy.

"I am very sorry to see you so thoughtful, Mary," said her mother, closing the book she had been reading; "it looks as if you were unhappy, my child."

"I will try to feel differently after to-morrow, dear mother: but I cannot help thinking how this day was last year spent. Oh, how happy I was then!"

At this moment there was a gentle rap at the house door. Mary started up—her heart beat wildly. It was so like his knock.

Then a voice was heard.

"It is he! it is he!" she exclaimed, and the next minute she was clasped in his arms.

All remembrance of his seeming inconstancy and his reported marriage was lost in the ecstacy of unlooked-for meeting.

"Mary!"

"Everard!"

The name of each was all that either for a while could utter.

But Mrs. Archer did not lose sight of the condemning circumstances that should have restrained the young girl's joy, and she said with an heir of severity that was not natural to her—

"Mary, you forgot what is due to yourself, and what is due to your future husband.—Mr. Newton, you must be aware that this visit is totally unexpected. Your marriage broke all ties between us, and though I presume by your coming here that your wife is no more, it does not alter our present relations. My daughter is no longer free."

"My marriage! My wife!" repeated the astonished young man. "What can you mean?"

"It is not true then?" said Mary. "You are not married?"

"Oh, no! no! Who has poisoned your mind with such a falsehood? Since the night I left you till three days ago, I have been kept a close prisoner—I do not know by whom or for what; but I have escaped, and come here to claim my promised bride, for I am now Vicar of Springfield."

"Thank God!" Mary ejaculated fervently "it is not too late."

Everything was now told, and a new light broke in upon Everard's mind.

"I see it all now," he said. "Mr. Lonsdale is a villain. It is he who has contrived the whole of this plot, to take you from me."

And when the first emotions of surprise were in some degree abated, and they were able to talk composedly of the events that had taken place, all agreed that the bland old gentleman, who appeared so mild and amiable, was detestable at heart, and capable of any wickedness.

He had gone to London to make arrangements in contemplation of his marriage with Mary, but he never returned, for he heard of Everard's escape, and, moreover, that police officers were sent to Yorkshire to search out the place of his confinement and take the people there into custody. Thus he knew that all must be discovered, so he placed his estate in the hands of an agent and went back to Italy.

It was not long before the information was sent to Mr. Newton, that a man who called himself Wolf was safely lodged in York gaol, and was willing to confess to his late prisoner who it was that employed him, and with what intent.

Everard went down immediately, and the man, with many expressions of contrition, told him a long story, the substance of which was this: He and his wife had been left, by a nobleman, who had gone abroad, in charge of an old mansion-house in the north of Yorkshire. Mr. Lonsdale came there and attempted him with a sum of money to assist in waylaying Mr. Newton when he left Woodstock, and conveying him to that obscure place, where he was to be detained a prisoner till orders were given to release him.

Wolfe's accomplice was an Italian, belonging to Mr. Lonsdale's houshold, and was the principal actor in the drama. It was he who administered the opiate that produced the insensibility, which enabled them to execute their scheme, and the same means were to be resorted to at the time of his liberation, when he was to be taken to a distant part of the country, so that he would never know where he had been imprisoned; consequently no discovery could take place.

Everard granted the man forgiveness, and as no one appeared against him he was set free.

The lovers were soon married, and Mrs. Archer went to reside with them at the young vicar's new abode. They often talked of his wonderful escape, and though Mary and her mother were both of the opinion that what he had seen that night was only a dream, he could never quite overcome a certain degree of superstitious feeling respecting the dwarf of the old oak chest.

SAVE YOUR CARPETS!
THE GREAT ENQUIRY HAS BEEN made for a number of years by housekeepers, What shall we put under our carpets to protect them from wear and mould? This grand, valuable discovery was affected and patented April 1st, 1856, by J. B. HARRINGTON, and is called Harrington's Patent Carpet Lining.
This article having proved its utility has now come into general use, so much so that scarcely a carpet will be put down without it, and its cheapness puts it within the reach of every family. It is warranted to add fifty per cent to the durability of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Matting. The details of its merits are too numerous to mention. It can be obtained at any of the principal Carpet Stores throughout the United States, and is manufactured only by the New York Carpet Lining Company. Also, extensive manufacturers of Mammoth Cotton Batting, and Comfortables. The best and cheapest that have ever been introduced in the market.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

THE ONLY ARTICLE
Unrivalled in Market,
WITH IMMENSE
HOME AND EUROPEAN DEMAND.

THE REASON WHY, IS THAT BY Nature's own process it restores the natural color permanently after the hair becomes gray; supplies the natural fluids, and thus makes it grow on bald heads, removes all dandruff, itching and heat from the scalp, quiets and tones up the nerves, and thus cures all nervous headache, and may be relied upon to cure all diseases of the scalp and hair; it will stop and keep it from falling off; makes it soft, glossy, healthy, and beautiful, and if used by the young two or three times a week, it will never fall or become gray; then reader, read the following and judge for yourselves:

NEW YORK, Jan. 8, 1858.
MESSRS. O. J. WOOD & CO.:
GENTLEMEN: Having heard a good deal about Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and my hair being quite gray, I made up my mind to lay aside the prejudice which, in common with a great many persons, I had against all manner of patent medicines, and a short time ago I commenced using your article, to test it for myself.

The result has been so very satisfactory that I am very glad that I did so, and in justice to you, as well as for the encouragement of others who may be as gray as I was, but who having my prejudice without my reasons for setting it aside, are unwilling to give your Restorative a trial till they have further proof, and the best proof being ocular demonstration, I write you this letter, which you may show to any such, and also direct them to me for further proof, who am in and out of the N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment every day.

My hair is now its natural color and much improved in appearance every way, being glossier and thicker and much more healthy looking.

I am, Yours Respectfully,
HENRY JENKINS.
Cor. Columbus and Carroll sts., Brooklyn.

LIVINGSTON, Ala., Feb. 14, 1858.
PROF. WOOD—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative has done much good in this part of the country.—My hair has been slightly diminishing for several years, caused, I suppose, from a slight burn when I was quite an infant. I have been using your Hair Restorative for six weeks and I find that I have a fine head of hair now growing, after having used all other remedies known, to no effect. I think it the most valuable remedy now extant, and advise all who are afflicted that way to use your remedy.

You can publish this if you think proper.
Yours, &c., S. W. MIDDLETON.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9, 1857.
PROF. WOOD—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative is proving itself beneficial to me. The front, and also the back part of my head almost lost its covering—was in fact bald. I have used but two half pint bottles of your Restorative, and now the top of my head is well studded with a promising crop of young hair, and the front is also receiving its benefit. [illegible]
Yours, respectfully, D. R. THOMAS, M. D.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, [illegible]

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY
OF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, HAS discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures
EVERY KIND OF HUMOR FROM
THE WORST SCROFULA DOWN TO A COMMON PIMPLE.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, (both thunder humor.) He has now in his possession over one hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.
Two or three bottles will cure the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.
Three or five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three or four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

ROXBURY, Mass.
DEAR MADAM:—The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kinds of humors, is so well established, by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative powers, in relieving all, and curing most of, those diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother, is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessings to your husband and household.

NURSING SORE MOUTH

In the more advanced stage of

CANKER

it extends to the stomach, causing

DYSPEPSIA

which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then on the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

Your stomach is

RAW AND INFLAMED,

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains, as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish, and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibres of your body become relaxed. Then follows a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is peculiarly adapted to

CURE:

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the hip-joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also that most excruciating of diseases the

PILES.

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb, "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

you have both the preventative and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you an injury. Yours truly,
DONALD KENNEDY.

DR. CHURCHILL'S REMEDY.

WINCHESTER'S GENUINE PREPARATION OF THE

HYPOPHOSPHITES

OF LIME AND OF SODA,

(Made from the Formula of Dr. J. F. Churchill,)

FOR THE PREVENTION AND CURE OF CONSUMPTION!

THE SUCCESS OF THIS NEW REMEDY, (discovered by Dr. Churchill, of Paris,) is obtaining the most UNBOUNDED POPULARITY throughout Europe and the United States. It is a purely SCIENTIFIC PREPARATION, and acts with INVARIABLE EFFICACY in all stages of Pulmonary and Nervous Diseases.

This Remedy has not only a curative effect, but will, if used wherever there exists a suspicion of the disease, PREVENT ITS DEVELOPMENT, and thus act as a preservative with regard to Consumption, just as vaccination does with regard to small-pox.

What the Medical Profession Say.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

ARRIVAL OF THE PRINCE ALBERT.

Garibaldi Entered Palermo, and Declared Himself Dictator of Sicily!

ST. JOHNS, N. B., June 7—3 P. M.

The steamship Prince Albert arrived at the Bay of Briton at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 5th.

She brings Galway dates of the 23d of May, and Liverpool dates by telegraph to the 25th of May.

The Sicilian accounts are conflicting. Garibaldi had entered Palermo and assumed the Dictatorship.

Sicilian official despatches claim a victory over Garibaldi.

The proceedings in the House of Commons indicate that the Government will be unable to carry the Reform Bill through this season, and they had virtually determined to abandon it.

The result of the great Derby race was sent in the telegraphic news by the last steamer out.

Umpire ran forward through the race, but came in at the end the sixth horse, being long distanced by the winner, Thormanby.

It is rumored that the Emperor of Russia contemplated visiting Paris.

It was also reported that the Moniteur was about to publish a speech by the French Ambassador to the Sultan of Turkey, of an alarming nature.

The friends of the Grand Duke of Tuscany continued the agitation at Florence for his restoration.

The Government has seized important documents containing instructions for an insurrection in the States of the Church, Calabria, &c.

Prince Gortschakoff had issued a circular explaining the reason why the Turkish Ambassador was not admitted to the diplomatic meeting of Christians in Turkey.

LATEST—LONDON, May 25.—The Sicilian news is very meagre and conflicting.

It is reported, and some authorities assert, correctly, that Garibaldi had entered Palermo with 9 000 infantry and square cavalry, and that the Neapolitans were laying down their arms.

It was also stated that Garibaldi had issued a stirring proclamation, stating that he had assumed, provisionally, the dictatorship of Sicily.

Garibaldi was received with the greatest enthusiasm at Palermo.

The news lack reliable confirmation, and some regard it as premature.

There was a great panic among the authorities at Messina.

Official Neapolitan despatches of the 23d of May, assert that the insurgents were beaten twice, driven from their positions and pursued, and that one of their leaders, Rosselino Pinto, was killed.

LIVERPOOL BREADSTUFF MARKET—Messrs. Richardson, Spence & Co. report flour dull, 26s to 30s. Wheat quiet; sales of red 10s 5d to 10s 9d. White 11s to 12s 6d. Corn, very dull; sales of mixed, 34s 6d. Yellow, 34s 6d to 35s. White, 35s 6d to 37s.

Beef is reported heavy, and all qualities slightly declined.

Delegates to Baltimore.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 7.

The National Democratic Convention sends a full delegation to Baltimore, and nominates an electoral ticket.

The delegates at large are D. C. Humphrey, S. C. Posey, W. O. Winston, J. J. Fisiers, R. A. Baker, John Forsyth, A. W. W. Hilliard and W. Garrett.

There are also twenty District delegates.

The Regular or Seceder's Convention send delegates to Richmond and Baltimore.

Mr. Yancey had the floor this morning, and spoke in favor of the minority platform.

Kansas not to be Admitted!

WASHINGTON, June 6.

The Democrats of the Senate held a caucus this morning, at which they agreed to vote for Mr. Green's amendment to the Kansas bill, changing the boundaries and sending the question back to the people.

The J. G. Rucker at Liverpool.

NEW YORK, June 7—3 P. M.

The schooner J. G. Rucker, from Cleveland, arrived at Liverpool on the 23d ult.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 7—9 P. M.

HOUSE.—Mr. McKean, of N. Y., made a speech on the slavery question.

After some uninteresting debate, the House adjourned till Friday.

SENATE.—A large number of House bills were reported.

Mr. Bright moved to take up the resolution fixing the day of adjournment, but afterwards withdrew it.

Mr. Bingham moved to take up the veto message of the President, in the case of Arthur Edwards and his associates. The bill was to allow Edwards for mail service on the Northern Lakes, and was vetoed by the President because of his exorbitant charges.

The question being taken, shall the bill pass, was lost by yeas 18, nays 88.

Mr. Bright renewed his motion for an adjournment on the 18th at 12 M.

Mr. Cameron hoped no Republican would vote for an adjournment until the tariff bill was acted on.

No vote had been taken on the motion.

He was ready to meet the tariff question, as all others.

Mr. Green thought neither House prepared to adjourn. He had hopes of getting up the Pacific R. R. bill, and disposing of it this session.

Mr. Hale advocated the resolution.

Mr. Seward moved to lay it on the table. Lost: ayes 23, nays 36.

Mr. Bigler moved as an amendment to adjourn on the 27th.

The subject was further debated by Messrs. Fessenden, Cameron, and others.

Mr. Cameron moved to postpone the subject till to-morrow. He said it had been promised by the Democrats of Pennsylvania that we should have a tariff bill this season. He believed his colleague honestly made this promise.

Mr. Bright thought they could get through by the 18th.

Mr. Bigler's amendment was rejected. The resolution was then adopted. Ayes 29, nays 27, as follows:

AYES.—Messrs. Bayard, Benjamin, Bragg, Bright, Chestnut, Clark, Clingman, Crittenden, Davis, Fitch, Fitzpatrick, Hale, Hammond, Hemphill, Hunter, Iverson, Johnson of Arkansas, Johnson of Tennessee, Kennedy, Mallory, Mason, Powell, Pugh, Rice, Sebastian, Slidell, Thompson, Toombs, Wigfall.

Mr. Wade moved to take up the Kansas bill. Lost. Ayes 27, nays 32.

A strict party vote, except Messrs. Bigler and Pugh, who voted with the Republicans.

Mr. Douglas was paired off with Mr. Clay, and Mr. Crittenden with Mr. Johnson, of Arkansas.

Messrs. Kennedy and Saulsbury were absent, or not voting. With these exceptions, all the Republicans voted aye, and the Democrats nay.

The army bill was proceeded with.

Various amendments were discussed. One by Mr. Brown, fixing the term of study classes this year and hereafter, entering at West Point, at five years for lower class, and four years for higher class, was adopted, as was one by Mr. Iverson, providing for the payment of interest in the settlement of accounts of States which have advanced money to the General Government for military purposes.

AYES.—26; NAYS, 17.

Mr. Johnson of Arkansas, moved a reconsideration.

Without taking the question at half-past 5, the Senate adjourned.

Arrangements for the Reception of the Japanese Embassy at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7—9 P. M.

The most extensive arrangements are being made for the reception of the Japanese. It is the great topic of the people. They will arrive about 3 o'clock Saturday P. M., and will be received by a large body of military. A torch light procession of the firemen and a trial of the steam fire engines is contemplated. The ambassadors have accepted an invitation to a matinee at the Academy of Music, to be given on Tuesday, under the auspices of Wheatly & Clark of the Arch Street Theatre. The entertainment will comprise popular selections from the opera, drama and ballet.

Murder at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, June 7—9 P. M.

Henry Crowley, a teacher in the Mount Auburn Female Seminary, while escorting two ladies home from the Opera House last night, was attacked by a gang of rowdies at the corner of Main and Hunt streets, and stabbed in the breast, causing instant death. The murderers are not yet arrested.

NEW ORLEANS, June 7—9 P. M.

The Donaldsonville Convention adjourned to-day. The secession at Charleston was condemned. It was resolved that the Louisiana delegation pledge themselves to support the nominees of the Baltimore Convention,

From the Plains.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., June 7—9 P. M.

The New Mexican mail, with dates to the 21st, arrived to-day.

The Navajo Indians made an attack upon Fort Defiance a few days before the mail left, and came very near taking it, as they were not expecting anything of the sort. Fortunately, by some mismanagement, their presence was discovered, and after some fighting were routed.

Trains of wagons were arriving at various points in the Territory almost daily, and business was reviving to some extent, but was still somewhat depressed.

Six companies of soldiers are on Red River on the lookout for indians.

A passenger came to Fort Union with the mail, who stated that he had orders from Col. Fountleroy to the troops not to attack the indians if it could possibly be avoided.

Six companies left Pawnee Fork on the 1st on a scout, and if they do not receive countermanding orders they will no doubt drive the indians from the road, or whip them into submission.

The forty dragoons that left Pawnee Fork some weeks ago to attack a band of Kiowas, returned without finding them.

This mail came through without an escort, not seeing an indian on the road, and would have made schedule time only they traveled five days with an ox train.

A train of nineteen wagons left here to-day for Denver, and others are making preparation for leaving in a few days.

The news here from the gold mines is very flattering, and has created quite a stir among friends of those out there.

Later from Mexico.

NEW ORLEANS, June 6.

The schooner "Potomac," from Vera Cruiz the 13th, has arrived here.

Messrs. Jecker & Co, had failed, causing immense losses throughout the country.

M. Gabriac, the late French minister, was in great distress, having lost all, by Jecker's failure.

The diplomatic corps had suspended all relations with Miramon's Government.

Miramon was near Querato, surrounded by Gen. Uraga with 12,000 men and unable to escape.

Pacheco, the new Spanish Minister had arrived.

The depositions of Captian Turner and others, in reference to the captured steamers, were received.

NEW ORLEANS, June 7.—9 P. M.

Jecker and Co.'s liabilities are $4,400,000, assets $7,000,000. They ask an extension of five years, promising to surrender 20 per cent. of their capital each year, together with 6 per cent. interest. His creditors refused the proposition.

They were to meet again on the 28th.

It was reported that Urega had met Miramon's vanguard and overthrew it.

Mr. McLane was sick. He will return home if the treaty is not ratified.

Inauguration of Gov. Goodwin.

CONCORD, N. H., June 7.—9 P. M.

Gov. Goodwin was inaugurated to-day. There was an annual military and civil display on the occasion. The Governor's Horse Guards, a new corps, was deservedly admired, composing as they do, the elite and chivalry of the State.

The Governor's message is brief. It is mainly devoted to local affairs, of which he speaks encouragingly. In conclusion, he says that New Hampshire declares to all disorganizers and disunionists, wherever found, that she stands by the Union and Constitution as interpreted, not by any new lights, section, clique, or party platforms, but by itself, its farmers, and the precedents of all departments of the Federal Government.

Republican State Convention.

DETROIT, June 7—9 P. M.

The Republican State Convention met here to-day, and made the following nominations:

For Governor—Austin Blair, of Jackson county.

For Lieut. Governor—James Birney, of Bay county.

For Treasurer—John Owen, of Wayne county.

For Auditor General—L. G. Berry, of Lawrence county.

For Attorney General—Charles Upson, of Branch county.

Superintendent of Public Instruction—John M. Gregory, Washtenaw Co.

Secretary State—Jas. B. Porter, Allegan Co.

Commissioner of Land Office—Samuel S. Lacy, Calhoun Co.

Member Board of Education—Edwin Willetts, Monroe Co.

Presidential Electors at large—H. G. Wells, Kalamazoo Co., Rufus Hosmer, Ingham Co.

The Convention was entirely harmonious. Large and enthusiastic Republican meetings at the City Hall this evening to ratify the National and State nominations.

Georgia Politics.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga, June 6.

The National Democrats met in convention last night, Judge Warner presiding. Resolutions were adopted re-affirming the Cincinnati platform, declaring that property exists in the slave and favoring the Dred Scott decision. The convention also nominated a full delegation to Baltimore.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, June 7—9 P. M.

A fire broke out to-day in Busserman's International Gallery of Paintings, destroying valuable paintings worth $5,000.

Acquitted.

NEW YORK, June 7—9 P. M.

The charges against Gen. Ward Burnett, Surveyor General of Kansas, after a thorough examination, have been entirely disproved.

ALBANY, June 7—9 P. M.

Despatches were received here this evening from St. Catharines, C. W, stating that John L. Schoolcraft, President of the Commercial Bank of this city, would not survive until morning.

THE GREAT TORNADO.

Later News from the Scene of the Disaster —Horrible Details at Camanche.

Special Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.

STERLING, Ill., June 6, 1860.

We returned yesterday from the late city of Camanche. While there the sight that met the eye was perfectly horrible to look upon, and no pen is adequate to the task of conveying the most faint idea of the disastrous effects of the tornado, as it passed over that place.

Horses and cattle are lying in every direction, killed from the effects of the storm. The buildings look as though they had all been torn in small fragments, scattered over the whole country, and feathers from the bed clothes line the ground, and then all had been over-swept with rushing waters.

We went into one building where were fifteen bodies, some mangled in the most horrible manner, and only wrapped up in a sheet, and put into a rough box, ready for burial.

Dr. Howell, of Fulton, informed us that from Sunday evening to Monday noon he had visited ninety-one wounded, and set twenty-three broken limbs.

We saw twenty-eight dead bodies, and there were eighty-two that require strict medical attendance, and as many more that are more or less hurt, yet are able to be around. In addition to this number, twenty-eight were swept from a raft in the river that was passing at the time, and ten are yet missing from the town, that are supposed to be buried in the ruins, or were blown into the river and drowned.

With the exception of half a dozen houses on the north side of the town, every single building is either torn down, unroofed or otherwise damaged.

A worse sight no human eye ever beheld, and the heart grows sick in seeing such a destruction of life and property. The town is entirely ruined, and we do not see how it can ever be rebuilt. There are whole blocks of lots that are vacant entirely, with nothing but the cellar to indicate that a house ever stood there.

We saw a part of a wagon, consisting of the forward axle truck and one hub, and no more of it could be found.

Out of the contents of three dry goods stores, not one cent's worth of the goods have ever been found.

The tornado struck the town a little past seven o'clock, and in less than ten minutes the whole was in ruins. After it had passed, the town was all afloat with water; all that could, began to run from place to place screaming at the top of their voices, calling for friends and for children. In every pile of rubbish, and from every demolished house, the groans of the dying and wounded were heard, and as the sound came from every part of the town, no one knew where to go first. The darkness occasioned by the black clouds, the air being filled with rubbish of every conceivable character, and the near approach of night, rendered the scene still more appalling, and such a wail of lamentation, sorrow and woe never went up from any place in the history of tornadoes, as did from this ruined and destroyed city. Nothing could be found to bind up the wounds of the suffering, no medicines were to be got, and the wails of the mother over her dead children, the anguish of a wife over the lifeless remains of a husband, the father over his slaughtered children, hunting in vain for his wife—all these are scenes that cannot be possibly described.

In one family all that was left were three little girls, the father and mother and two children having been instantly killed. We saw where a fence board had been forced clear through the side of a house, end ways, and hundreds of shingles had forced themselves clear through the clapboards of a house.

We visited the grave yard, and saw twenty-eight graves side and side all dug, waiting to receive the rough boxes containing the remains of the slaughtered people.

The whole atmosphere around the town is sickening, and a stench is pervading the whole path of the storm that is almost impossible to endure.

The loss of property is immense, and can never be known to its full extent.

We have just learned that three of the men on the raft have made their appearance. They state that they were blown from the raft clear on to the Illinois shore beyond Albany, and for a long time were unable to move or stir, but after recovering from the shock succeeded in crawling to a house where they were kindly cared for. They know nothing of the rest of their comrades, not having seen them since they were on the raft together.

In this vicinity, near Sterling, the wounded are dying almost every day, and every farm house is a hospital for the dying and wounded.

Yesterday a public meeting was called, and relief subscribed to the sufferers with a liberality unparalleled. They appointed a committee who are now doing all in their power to aid and relieve the sufferers.

In haste, A. A. TERRELL.

The steamer Prince Albert arrived at New York today, with Liverpool dates to the 25th ult. Her advices were received at an early hour on 'Change, reporting flour dull, and wheat quiet at previous quotations.

Although there were sales of Milwaukee Club in New York at 30@31½, and the report for the papers represents the market unchanged, private despatches indicated a dull feeling at the close.

Our market for wheat opened quite firmly at yesterday's outside prices, but on the receipt of the foreign news declined ⅛c, No. 1 spring selling at $1,05½, and No. 2 at $1,07 in store. The market was very quiet in the afternoon, sellers reluctantly conceding to the decline. Early in the day the millers were paying $1,11@1,12 for Extra sample lots, but were out of the market in the afternoon. The sales of all descriptions amount to about 30,000 bus.

The transactions in flour consisted of sales of nearly 1,000 bbls, at $5 for fair Extra country, $5,40@5,45 for choice do, and $5,75 for fancy Extra City.

The only thing done in freights was the charter of a vessel at 7c for wheat to Oswego. Rates on flour by steam are:

To Buffalo (nominal) .... 25c ℔ bbl.
To New York .... 00c do
To Oswego .... 40c do
To Ogdensburgh .... 45c do
To Boston, (via Ogdensburgh) .... 80c do

AN UNFAIR COMPARISON.—The La Crosse Republican publishes a statement of the aggregate receipts of grain at Milwaukee and Chicago for four years, to prove that Milwaukee is a "one-horse town." Now Milwaukee does not object to a fair comparison with Chicago in any respect, because such, while showing that the commerce of Milwaukee is increasing to an extent fairly commensurate with the growth and prosperity of Wisconsin, also exhibits the fact that several branches of the trade of Chicago have been decreasing, for the past three years, in about the same proportion that the same have increased in Milwaukee. One item will do to establish this fact: The Republican commences with a statement of the total exports of wheat from Milwaukee and Chicago for the last four years, showing, of course, a large preponderance in the aggregate in favor of Chicago. But if the Republican will have the fairness to publish the comparative exports for each of the four years, instead of all in lump, the statement will point to a very different conclusion than that which it seeks to establish. It will show that the excess of exports of wheat from Chicago over the exports from Milwaukee have been decreasing at the rate of about TWO MILLIONS BUSHELS annually. We have the figures of the exports for the past three years only at hand, and here they are taken from the same sources that the Republican got its statement from:

Shipments of wheat	1857.	1858.	1859.
From Chicago	9,485,069	8,727,829	7,267,553
From Milwaukee	2,531,311	3,994,218	4,631,227
Difference	6,953,741	4,733,626	2,635,326

That is to say the preponderance in the exports of wheat from Chicago over the exports from Milwaukee, which in 1857 amounted to 6,953,741 bushels, in 1858 was but 4,771,625, and last year only 2,633,326. This year the difference, in all probability, will be in favor of Milwaukee, as we have already shipped since the 1st of January, two hundred thousand bushels more than Chicago. It is not our purpose to recapitulate the causes that have brought about these changes, so favorable to Milwaukee. The facts we have stated are undeniable, and they prove, beyond controversy, that the commerce which Chicago diverted from Milwaukee by extraordinary means, is steadily and surely returning to its natural channels from whence it can never again be turned.

The Republican professes to be actuated by no hostility towards Milwaukee; it claims that it only desires to tell the truth about the comparative merits of two rival cities, but with strange inconsistency loses no opportunity to draw unjust comparisons, derogatory to Milwaukee. The statement which it published in its last issue, we have shown to be one-sided, and grossly unjust to Milwaukee. If, therefore, there is any sincerity in its professions, it cannot object to correct that statement in the respect we have mentioned. Failing to do so, it can be regarded in no other light than that of a traitor, an unscrupulous hireling of Chicago, defaming Milwaukee under the guise of disinterestedness. But, we do not expect the Republican to tell the truth about Milwaukee. That would not be in keeping with the evident object of its existence, and the principal motive of this article is to prove its dishonesty, if indeed anything beyond its own columns was necessary to make that patent.

This is the first time that any allusion has been made by the SENTINEL to the course of the Republican, except the little humerous retorts which its absurd and gratuitous phillipics against Milwaukee has called forth in our local columns, and shall be the last.

CHICAGO MARKET, JUNE 6TH.—Receipts of the articles named, at Chicago, yesterday, were as follows:

Flour, bbls	1,450
Wheat, bus	11,039
Corn, bus	67,749
Oats, bus	1736
Rye, bus	112
Barley, bus	195

The Press & Tribune says:

The receipts of corn to-day only 67,749 bus, and under an increasing demand for shipment, and a fair speculative inquiry, the market advanced fully ½c. At the opening there was a good inquiry for No. 1 at 48c; but it speedily advanced to 48½c, at which figure quite a large amount changed hands, afterwards touching 49c; but on the receipt of the New York dispatches the buoyancy subsided somewhat, and the market closed quiet but firm at 48@48½c. About 95,000 bus changed hands, at 47½c for No. 2 canal afloat; 48@49c for No. 1 in store, and 46@46½c for No. 2. Wheat was very quiet, and rather dull at the opening; but before the close an active shipping demand took place, and the market became brisk at yesterday's quotations.—About 70,000 bus were sold—nearly all for immediate shipment—at $1,07@1,07½ for No. spring in store, and $1,05@1,06 for No. 2 spring. Flour was quiet and scarcely so firm—holders being willing to make a slight concession. The transactions, however, were limited, and we have no change to note—Spring Extra selling at $5@5,10 for medium to good, Spring Supers at $3.92½@4. Oats were in good shipping request, and under an anxiety to fill out a cargo, an advance of ½@1c was submitted to by buyers—about 12,000 bus being sold at 25½@25c in store. Rye and Barley quiet and almost nominal. Hides quiet and steady. A small lot of ¾ blood fleece Wool was sold to-day at 30c; but the market has not yet opened, and this can scarcely be taken as a basis for future operations.

Freights still rule dull. A propeller and sail vessel were engaged to-day at 3c to Buffalo.

ST. LOUIS MARKET, JUNE 4TH.—(From the Democrat.)

FLOUR—Market generally dull. Sales reported comprise 150 bbls low quality country super at 5,15; 100 do country superfine at $5,30, 50 bbls country extra at $5,70; 50 do at $6; 1,000 bags city superfine, in lots, at $2,75, and 300 choice do at $2,85. 10 bbls new flour from the new wheat sold on Saturday, were reported at the Saxony Mills at $10 ℔ bbl.

WHEAT—Buyers hold off to-day unwilling to operate, except at figures below holders' views, and very little was sold. 268 bags spring were reported at $1,06; 114 bags with at $1,10@1,12; 240 bags good common fall at $1,15@1,17; small lot good at $1,30; 150 bags prime red and white at $1,40@1,41; and 79 bags choice at $1,45@1,46.

CORN—Market very dull and prices 2@3c lower.—Sales comprise 150 bags common mixed at 46c; 2,200 bags mixed at 47@48c; 4,500 bags prime mixed, good yellow and white, and mixed white at 50@51½c, mostly delivered; 1,150 bags prime yellow, and yellow and white at 52@53c; 2,100 bags prime and choice mixed white and white at 51@56c; and 868 bags choice white at 56@57c, in new gunnies.

OATS—Dull and somewhat easier to buyers. Sales 2,775 bags prime, in second-hand and new bags at 41½, 41@42½c, part delivered, and 254 bags in new gunnies at 43c.

RYE—Sales 105 bags fair at 85c, and 435 bags prime at 86@87½c, in good and new bags.

BUCKWHEAT—17 bags sold for seed at 75c.

PROVISIONS—Market very firm but business small.—Sales 40 bbls mess pork at $15,25, and 16 csks city rib sides at 10c.

WHISKEY—Receipts were only moderate, and the market is steady at 18½c, with sales of 347 bbls in lots at that figure.

POTATOES—Receipts liberal and market heavy. Sales include 47 bbls and 200 bags mixed at 35@36c; 264 bgs Irish grays, hog, and Northern mixed at 40c; 25 bags small pinkeyes at 42½c, and 95 bags good do at 47½c in bags.

HAY—Holders pretty firm, but demand less active.—Sales 100 bales prime timothy at 87½c, 50 and 60 bales do at 90c, part delivered.

SEEDS—Sales 50 bags Hungarian at 45c, and 8 bags millet at 80c.

BUTTER—Very dull. Sale 45 pkgs good to prime fresh at 8@10c.

TORONTO MARKET, JUNE 5TH.—(From the Globe.)—Yesterday, the supplies of produce were confined to two or three loads, the wet weather preventing farmers from coming to market, beside which Monday is always a dull day. There is no change to note, and no quotations can be given in the absence of sales. Flour is unchanged. The news by the Anglo Saxon is contradictory. The quotations given are lower than those by the last steamer, and the "advance" spoken of in the report must be in the opposite direction to that stated. There were no sales reported yesterday.

EXPORTS OF BREADSTUFFS.—The New York Corn Exchange Reporter publishes the following statement of the exports of breadstuffs from September 1st, 1859, to the latest dates, compared with the exports for the corresponding periods of the two previous years:

LOSS OF THE STEAMER ARCTIC.—The propeller Fountain City arrived from Lake Superior last evening at 11 o'clock. She bring the unwelcome news of the loss of the steamer Arctic, Capt. Miller, of Ward's Lake Superior line. The Arctic was bound up, and had on board a large load of passengers and freight. She ran on one of the Huron Islands, in a heavy fog, on Tuesday morning, May 28th. For some minutes the passengers were in a state of perfect frenzy, and it was with difficulty the officers of the ill-fated steamer prevented some from madly jumping overboard. After quiet was restored, the boats were lowered, and the passengers and crew safely landed on the island. Too much cannot be said in praise of the officers for their efforts in behalf of the passengers. The Fountain City took the passengers and crew of the Arctic off the island, and left the former at their several destinations. Much credit is due to the officers of the Fountain City for their kind attention to the unfortunate passengers and crew.

The Arctic is reported a total loss. But very little of her freight was saved. She was an old boat, having been in service on the lakes for about twelve years.—She was owned by Capt. Eber Ward of this city. Her insurance is not given, if she had any.—Detroit Free Press, June 6th.

PROBABLE LOSS OF THE SCHOONER VIRGINIA.—The tug Red Eric returned yesterday afternoon from the schooner Virginia, having been unsuccessful thus far in her efforts to get her off, and it is now more than probable that she will prove a total loss. She had on board 8,000 bushels corn, 2,500 bushels of which was saved in a dry state, and 1,500 damaged. The balance is in her hold. The weather during the past 24 hours has been very unfavorable, and caused her to give way in many parts of her hull. The Red Eric will return again to-day and make a final effort to save her.—Detroit Advertiser of Wednesday.
